Kennedy States Policy

Underground Tests May Help Treaty Ratification

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's announcement the United States will continue underground weapons testing may aid his drive for Senate ratification of the limited nuclear treaty.

Kennedy told his news conference Thursday that subterranean tests will continue. They are excluded from the agreement reached with the Soviet Union and Britain prohibiting testing in the atmosphere, space and under water.

This may alleviate the fears of some senators that this country might voluntarily put a moratorium on such tests in an effort to get the complete ban toward which Kennedy said the United States will keep on striving.

It also served notice that American efforts to perfect more effective nuclear weapons will continue with the kind of experiments scientists generally estimate cover 80 per cent of the nuclear development filed.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., who has been dubious about the treaty, indicated that his decision would be influenced by what he finds out about the underground program. Jackson is chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy subcommittee dealing with weapons.

"I would say that the assurances that can be given by the administration of a definite underground test program that would be considered adequate by our professional experts would help materially in reaching a decision on the treaty," he said.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said in a separate interview he believes underground tests will provide "virtually all the progress we need" in developing weapons.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, who remains uncommitted on the treaty, said among the many things senators will want to learn from military leaders is "whether underground tests will meet our national security needs."

Kennedy said he doesn't see anything wrong in senators' adopting a wait and see attitude toward the treaty, as many Republicans and some Democrats have.

But he added: "Sooner or later, however, if you wait long enough and you see long enough you have to do something and you have to vote 'yes' or 'no.'"

"My judgment is when the testimony is all in that this treaty will be ratified. I think it would be a great mistake not to."

Mansfield said he hopes the treaty to be signed Monday in Moscow can be brought before the Senate before Labor Day. He said he thinks various committees ought to complete their hearings in a couple of weeks, and he expects a week's debate on the floor.

Dray Widens Trustee Race For St. Clair

Voting Board Lists 8 More Candidates For Fall Balloting

A three-man race developed Thursday afternoon for a lone St. Clair Township trustee's post that will be filled in the Nov. 5 general election with the filing of David S. Dray of St. Clair Ave. Ext.

Dray, making his first bid for public office, is employed as an equipment operator by Mike Pusateri, excavating contractor. Married, he is the father of a son, 5.

Earlier entries were Frank S. Mitcheson Jr. of Mud Ln., Calcutta, and Robert L. Frantz of Center St., Glenmoor. The expiring term on the three-member board is held by Fred Hopper of M.C. Rt. 22.

Other new entries include:

Robert L. Faulkner, for Salem Township trustee.

Dorothy C. McKibbin, for Salem City Board of Education.

Robert Ringler, for Knox Township trustee.

William C. Metts, for Wayne Township trustee.

Stewart Dyke, for trustee, and Earl L. Davis, for clerk, both in Middleton Township.

Anthony Sheen, for Perry Township trustee.

Alfred Gregory, for Unity Township clerk.

The nine new filings bring to 78 the number entered for non-partisan balloting in townships, school districts and villages under 2,000 population. The deadline is Wednesday.

A school district bond issue and two township levies also were entered overnight.

The Southern Local School District filed a resolution enacted earlier by its Board of Education

Doctor Near Death

Girl Friend Vows To Avenge Ward

LONDON (AP)—The condition of Dr. Stephen Ward, still clinging to life by a thread, was reported unchanged today. His latest girl friend promised to avenge him if he dies.

A medical bulletin from St. Stephen's Hospital said Ward had shown no improvement in the past 12 hours. He was still unconscious.

Julie Gulliver, 23, a red-haired singer who was Ward's daily companion during his trial, told newsmen:

"There's a whole crowd of people right now praying for Stephen to die so that their names won't be mentioned."

"If he dies I'm going to make sure that they are."

Ward, 50, society osteopath and artist, has been in a coma since Wednesday when he took a massive overdose of drugs a few hours before an Old Bailey jury found him guilty of living off the prostitution of Christine Keeler, 21, and Marilyn (Mandy) Rice-Davies, 18.

Ward developed bronchial pneumonia Thursday afternoon. At one point his breathing stopped and he was clinically dead. A breathing machine, applied to an incision in his throat, pumped air into his lungs. A spokesman for St. Stephen's Hospital said Ward's heart probably stopped also.

William Mayne Butcher, secretary of the hospital management committee, said: "Ward is desperately ill—just about half alive. I don't know how long anyone can live under these conditions."

Ward was still unaware that he had been found guilty and faced up to 14 years in prison.

His private room was bright with flowers sent in by many of his girl friends.

Only Miss Gulliver had applied to see him. She was turned away in tears as an official said, "Only relatives—no girls."

Ward told friends he believed he was being made the scapegoat for the Profumo scandal, which set off charges of immorality in high political and social circles and nearly forced Prime Minister Harold Macmillan to resign.

Ward had introduced Christine Keeler to War Minister John D. Profumo, who resigned June 4 after admitting he lied to the House of Commons in an attempt to cover up his affair with the call girl.

Macmillan, 60, told a television interviewer Thursday night the Profumo scandal had wounded and bruised him.

"This is something which has never occurred in my life before and—a world unrevealed and quite foreign to me, and very unpleasant," said the prime minister.

Macmillan added, however, he has no idea of quitting the leadership of the Conservative party and "will do whatever I think is most likely for the party to win the next election."

Traffic lights were turned off as police halted travel.

As police sought to quell the racial row in the area—the Englewood district—a public meeting of residents was held in the Englewood Police Station. It was adjourned after several white residents said they feared Negroes were trying to take over their community. A bi-racial committee held a closed meeting at the station in an attempt to reach a solution to the problem.

All porches within two blocks of the Negro families were crowded. One girl told a reporter, "We don't want to integrate." A woman, about 50, said she would use

Rusk Heads For Signing Of Test Ban

Ceremony Planned Monday; Talks Set Later With Premier

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk leaves for Moscow tonight to sign the limited nuclear test ban treaty and to explore the chances of further East-West understanding.

The signing of the treaty, in which the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain pledge to abstain from testing in the atmosphere, in outer space and under water, will be a ceremonial affair Monday.

The pact was initiated last Thursday by Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman, Britain's Science Minister, Lord Hailsham and Andrei A. Gromyko, the Soviet foreign minister.

Rusk will be accompanied to Moscow by high administration officials and six senators—four Democrats and two Republicans.

He has been invited to remain in the Soviet Union after the signing ceremony, and the Moscow conferences are expected to last three or four days.

To what extent and for how long Lord Home, the British foreign secretary, will participate in these talks was not immediately clear.

He, Rusk and Gromyko will sign the treaty in the Kremlin's magnificent St. Catherine Hall.

Khrushchev, officials said, is expected to start the talks with Rusk on Tuesday. The place is undetermined, although Khrushchev is known to have planned a vacation at the Black Sea. Later, the discussions likely will be held in Moscow with Gromyko.

The four Democratic senators who will accompany Rusk are J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee; John O. Pastore of Rhode Island, chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee; Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, chairman of the Disarmament subcommittee; and John J. ## Rights Stand By Kennedy Hits Prestige

But Crisis Must Be Met Despite Effect, President Declares

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy says he thinks it is probably right that his advocacy of civil rights legislation is costing him heavily in political prestige and popularity, but he is going ahead.

Kennedy told his news conference Thursday that there is "a national crisis of great proportions" over the racial issue and that any President would have to meet it.

While he agreed with a questioner that the political cost may be heavy in terms of his expected bid for re-election next year, he said the crisis is at hand "and we are going to deal with it."

"My judgment is that both political parties will finally come to the same conclusion, and that is that every effort should be made to protect the rights of all of our

Dropout Aid Due Area School Record Good

President Kennedy launched an effort Thursday to discourage American boys and girls from dropping out of school next fall and winter and it could further improve the surprisingly good dropout records of district schools.

A survey of area schools on their dropouts indicates the problem of encouraging pupils to continue their scholastic studies is not as great here as in some areas of the country.

STANTON LOCAL High School in Hammondville has an equally good record. Supt. C.P. Henderson said there were only four dropouts—all boys—from among 325 pupils in Grades 7 through 12 last year.

Principal George Hargraves of East Liverpool High School is working on a new report analyzing the dropout records for the school year just ended.

For the school year July 1961 to June 1962, a total of 55 students left East Liverpool High School for various reasons, including 25 boys and 30 girls.

The study by Principal Hargraves revealed that the boys who dropped from school had higher intelligence quotients than the girls — 93.9 to 90.1. The average IQ of the dropout was 92.

RECORDS showed that parents of dropouts who worked in a steel mill had the most difficulty persuading their youngsters to remain in school, although various

Peking Raps Moscow On Test Treaty

Soviet Paper Says Chou En-Lai Acted In Insincere Way

TOKYO (AP) — Red China called Soviet leaders "freaks and monsters" today for approving the nuclear test ban treaty, while Moscow accused Chinese Premier Chou En-lai of acting in bad faith as long as four years ago.

Albania, allied with Peking, pitched into the war of words by accusing Premier Khrushchev of "unconditional concessions and capitulation to the imperialists" in agreeing to a partial nuclear test ban with the United States and Britain.

The Peking People's Daily, official organ of the Chinese Communist party, launched an attack against the Soviet Union and its Western partners in the test ban treaty.

An editorial said the treaty "reflects the ugly face of U.S. imperialism, which is aggressive by nature, as well as the servile features of those who are warmly embracing U.S. imperialism."

"The exposure of these freaks and monsters in their true colors is an excellent thing for the revolutionary struggle of the peoples and the cause of world peace," the editorial continued.

7 Agents Hired

West Virginia To Probe Gasoline Sale Violations

CHARLESTON (AP) — The state hopes to parlay a new annual investment of about $50,000 into additional income of perhaps $1 million from its 7-cents-a-gallon gasoline tax.

Going on the rolls of the Tax Department's Gasoline Tax Division are seven new inspectors with investigative authority similar to that of the State Police. The new investment will be in their salaries and expenses.

They'll dig into irregular sales of gasoline and special fuels as indicated by audit results, complaints received by the department, investigative work and other sources. Qualifications for the jobs are high.

Particular attention will be given questionable refund claims; reports that gasoline wholesalers, retailers and importers are operating without proper licenses, and other apparent instances of tax evasion.

The new force was made possible by an $80,000 increase in the budget appropriated by the Legislature for the division for the fiscal year which began July 1.

Evan Hall, a retired State Police sergeant from St. Albans, will head the inspectors. One other man has been trained to date. The inspectors' salary range will be $370-$435 a month, up to $485 for Hall's post.

Director Charles B. Williams of the Gasoline Tax Division explained the background for the new investigative and inspection personnel this way today:

In past years, the division's field auditors have been responsible for investigative as well as auditing work — an assignment which was far too large for them to handle effectively.

It was also only a year ago that the auditors' force was increased from two to eight.

The division must handle an annual load of 2,400 to 3,000 returns from 200 distributors and gasoline importers; up to about 65,000 returns from 4,800 licensed retailers, and 24,000 from trucking concerns.

An average of 8,000 businesses or individuals submit approximately 45,000 claims a year for refunds of taxes paid on gasoline purchased for non-highway use, or under other exemption provisions.

"For the past fiscal year," Williams said, "we had gross gasoline tax receipts of about $40.6 million, and a net of $37.5 million after $3.1 million in refunds."

"We are confident that, with the new investigative personnel, we can pick up at least another $300,000 and possibly up to $1 million a year. Closer controls over refunds alone might mean $200,000."

Along with the regular gasoline tax statute, Williams' division must administer the Motor Carrier Road Tax set up by the 1959 Legislature to tighten tax collections from interstate truckers.

These carriers must either purchase in West Virginia the fuel they use here — or make a corresponding tax remittance to the state for gallonage consumed in trips over its highways even though the fuel is bought elsewhere.

Actually, the MCRT as such has been operating at a deficit of $300,000 or so a year because of truckers' refund claims on fuel purchased in the state but actually used elsewhere on interstate runs.

Williams said, however, that tightened administration of the act should bring increased revenue under the regular gasoline tax law in amounts sufficient largely to counterbalance the refunds.

Meter Dispute Due Action At Wellsville

Legislation authorizing the hiring of two parking meter attendants is to be considered by Wellsville City Council at a meeting Tuesday night at 7:30.

The legislation has been tabled twice previously. At the last meeting, several members were absent and it was agreed to hold it over until the next meeting so all could be present.

The proposal for meter attendants was presented by Mayor William Daugherty. He said if attendants are named it will not be necessary to fill a vacancy on the police department. Police now handle the meters. He said this would also give officers more time for their regular duties.

Joseph Heiney, a former officer, has filed action in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon, seeking to force the mayor to fill the vacancy.

The proposal has met with strong opposition. Several individuals and various organizations have voiced opinions against the idea.

Council also may consider a proposed gas rate increase. Ohio Valley Gas Co. officials are expected to seek an agreement with the city. Previous proposals made by the utility have been turned down.

Hancock Groups To Air Projects

Three Hancock County groups will meet jointly tonight at 7:30 in the Courthouse in New Cumberland to discuss future projects.

They include construction of a new dormitory at the County Children's Home in Pughtown and a new incinerator plant for the Chester, Newell, New Cumberland areas.

Conferring will be County Court, the County Planning and Development Commission and the Board of Trustees of the Children's Home.

William C. Graham of Chester heads County Court and the Children's Home Board. Norman Ferreri of Weirton is president of the planning group.

Staff Introduced At Hollow Rock

The Rev. Paul Brookes of Chester, president of the Official Board of the Hollow Rock interdenominational camp meeting, introduced the workers at the opening service of the 126th annual series Thursday night. A good turnout was reported.

The speaker was Dr. Lawrence Hicks of Chattanooga, Tenn.

The Rev. Paul Uhrig of Columbus preached at Bible study hour this morning. Dr. John R. Church was to speak this afternoon and Rev. Uhrig will preach tonight at 7:30.

The services will be held daily through Aug. 11.

Reds Charge Defection Bid

MOSCOW (AP) — Izvestia has accused a United Press International correspondent and an American professor of trying to lure a Soviet citizen into U.S. intelligence.

The government newspaper charged that Don Larrimore, a Russian-speaking American newsman, sought out a young Russian identified only as Felix S. during a tourist visit to Moscow in 1956 and 1957.

Later, it continued, an American professor of Slavic languages from Minneapolis, Minn., who used the names Irving Shaw or Joseph Shaw, visited Felix and suggested he provide secret information for Western intelligence.

The paper said Larrimore was a "collaborator of the intelligence of the U.S.A." who "snares prey which others later take in hand."

United Press International in New York said Larrimore denied ever having been in CIA employ.

Teacher Set For Stanton

HAMMONDSVILLE — George Woods was hired as a new high school teacher when the Stanton Local Board of Education met for brief business Thursday night in the school.

There was a discussion on a proposal to extend a six-inch water line from Irondale village to the new high school. A contract has been awarded to the R. K. McKee Construction Co. of Columbiana on its low bid of $18,218.25. Work has not yet started.

Length of the project will be 1.1 miles. Deep wells at the high school have failed to provide enough good-quality water to supply the plant, so the board is having the village water line in Cream City extended to Hammondsville.

Demonstrators Cited At Rockefeller Offices

NEW YORK (AP)—Seven civil rights demonstrators were arrested for blocking the entrance to Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's Manhattan office Thursday night.

The arrests were made several hours after three demonstrators were sentenced to five days in jail for similar action at Mayor Robert F. Wagner's City Hall office.

Around-the-clock set-ins have been going on for three weeks at both offices as part of the campaign for more jobs for Negroes and Puerto Ricans on public construction projects.

Both the governor, a Republican, and the mayor, a Democrat, have been active in moves to provide more jobs for minority groups, but civil rights organizations are demanding more progress.

Fifty-two Negro and white demonstrators were arrested in the city Thursday. During the past three weeks, 799 have been arrested, including 674 at the Downstate Medical Center construction site in Brooklyn, scene of several outbreaks of violence.

President John F. Kennedy won a Pulitzer Prize in 1957 for a book he had written earlier entitled "Profiles in Courage."

30 Years Of Disenchantment

It has been granted by the majority leader of the U.S. Senate, Mike Mansfield of Montana, that Republicans are not being disloyal when they ask questions about a proposed nuclear test ban treaty signed by the United States, the Soviet Union and the United Kingdom.

So far, so good. Sen. Mansfield is too fair-minded to be a topnotch majority leader, but his fairmindedness in this instance has steered him to a logical view of two-party government.

The duty of the loyal opposition is to question and challenge.

The proposed nuclear test ban treaty has partisan implications, like everything else in two-party government. If it had been proposed during the Eisenhower administration, Democrats would have challenged it. If it had been proposed during the Truman administration, Republicans would have challenged it.

THERE IS no such thing as nonpartisan action in a bipartisan government. Only rarely is there such a thing as bipartisan agreement on partisan matters. When politicians talk about how nice it would be for the opposition to shut up, that is when the public should become alert.

They should be alert now. Americans have no reason to trust agreements with the Communist government of Russia.

On Nov. 16, 1933, following 10 days of negotiations between President Roosevelt and Maxim Litvinov, then Soviet commissar for foreign affairs, the United States gave diplomatic recognition to the Soviet Union, on certain conditions.

The conditions were of great significance. Russian Communists were to quit spying on the United States. They were to quit trying to weaken and overthrow U.S. institutions. They were to give U.S. citizens in Russia equal protection of laws.

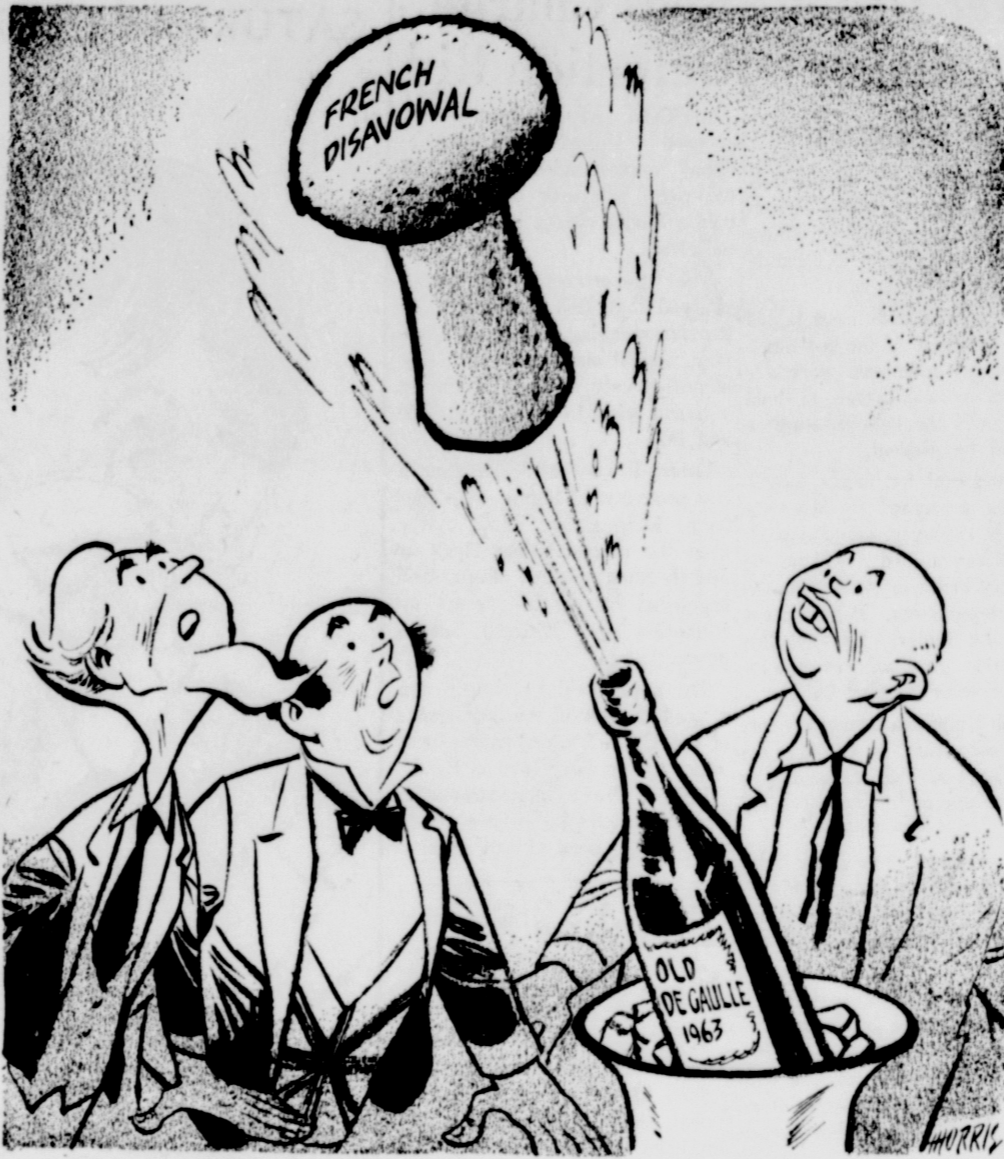

Russian Communists promised to quit aiming anti-U.S. propaganda against our political and social order. They pledged to get rid of international conspirators using Russian bases to subvert American institutions. They promised to waive all claims against Americans, including claims for damages resulting from the American expedition to Siberia in 1918.

THERE WAS no partisan discussion in 1933. There was no discussion at all. The whole deal was carried out at the executive level between President Roosevelt and Mr. Litvinov.

The disenchantment that followed could not be overestimated for its effect on U.S.-U.S.S.R. relations. Russia had a great chance 30 years ago to win confidence and blew it.

It gained U.S. diplomatic recognition and Americans lost all their illusions about promises originating in the Kremlin.

Trouble At The Victory Celebration

Sabotage Teams Are Busy In Peru

By Victor Riesel

LIMA, PERU
Eight paratrooper-type Castro agents, all young Peruvians, slipped into this country some weeks ago. They carried $27,000 in cash. They had drawn this in Havana.

They were not the first such team. They will not be the last. What makes them different? They were caught.

Such sabotage teams do not play at international revolution. They pick strategic targets and hit with bomb and arson.

There is, for example, the raid at Cerro de Pasco installations. At about 7 a.m. last Dec. 17, a contingent of miners from the Mining and Metal Workers Federation of Central Peru marched on the company's buildings in Oroya.

Until that moment there had been peaceful wage negotiations between the union and the copper, lead and zinc firm which has its headquarters in New York City. But at a signal this band of miners — and no one knows who flashed the word — fought their way past 25 idling guards.

One of the invading gang carried a 12 x 4-foot Peruvian flag. He and some of his comrades spread it in a patriotic gesture alongside a plant wall.

QUICKLY SOME of the other marauders, using the flag as a shield to hide them, dug through this wall into the compound.

Soon they were inside. They made contact with others who had apparently been hiding on company property. They bombed. They put fire to the central warehouse which had stored the mining and smelting operations. This burned to the ground. The cost of this building and its contents was $4 million.

Meanwhile other units of the well-drilled invaders began rolling rocks down on the railroad tracks and the mountain roads leading to Cerro de Pasco's plant at Oroya. The rail line had to cut service. Fire engines and other vehicles were paralyzed on the steep roads.

Other raiders seized refineries, smelters, smaller warehouses and auxiliary plants. The sampling plant was burned right down to ashes.

One official report said destruction hit everything in the path of the striking bands of unionists. They held the plant property for three days.

IN ADDITION to the $4 million loss, the company dropped about $185,000 a day in production. This does not include the cost of rebuilding culverts which were destroyed during the successful effort to cut the roads and isolate Oroya — and there was also the cost of nearby oil and gas tanks which were put aflame.

The comparative handful of Communists who led the invasion thus were able to paralyze company activities for awhile — and keep some 12,000 men jobless.

Mind you, all this happened just as the year-end contract was being negotiated peacefully.

This raid was part of the effort to injure the economy of an ally of ours which is having the usual financial difficulties. There were other violent efforts.

Over in a suburb, the Bata Rimac shoe company also was negotiating with a union — the shoe workers. Bargaining was peaceful. Suddenly a band of Communist unionists marched on the plant. They seized it and for two days held management men as hostages.

DURING THIS period there were also plant seizures in textiles and other industries where the Communists have powerful blocs. Obviously the word had gone out. But who was leading the raiding? Who was directing the quasi-military operations?

Government intelligence people believed they knew. They dragged the land for Communist officials and activists. As soon as these were in jail, the raids stopped. Now these Communists are being released. More raids are expected on other plants.

Let there be any doubt as to who the plant-seizure strategists are, I sought out Arturo Sabroso Montoya, secretary general of the Peruvian Confederation of Labor (CTP).

He explained the Communist technique.

He said there "is no doubt" that Castro teams are operating in the country. Some are assigned to the peasantry. Others to industry. He asserted that the Communist technique is to attempt to seize the large union negotiating committees and then try to stall any peaceful bargaining — especially with foreign-owned firms.

Mr. Sabroso revealed he had evidence that the Peruvian Communist party was directly linked to the effort to discourage foreign investments. And the Castro teams provided the bombs, the guns, the strategy and the cash needed for such operations.

OTHER SOURCES said the Cerro de Pasco Corporation had been the Communist target because it had invested about $100 million in the past 12 years and now had a multi-million dollar program — $2 million for capital expansion in 1963, and another $6 million for modernization projects to improve working conditions in the mines and smelters.

Despite the Communist destruction of property the company recovered and is doing well. So are the miners.

The Communists tried and failed to cripple much of the central Peruvian economy and drive out American interests which have done so much for the land.

There you have the pattern for Latin America. It is replacing sugar as one of Cuba's chief exports.

Trick Or Treaty?

By David Lawrence

East Germany Gets Into The Act

Sooner or later the trickery in the treaty banning certain nuclear tests was bound to emerge, but it was hardly expected to become evident so quickly. The stratagem by which the United States and the other Western powers are to be inveigled into a recognition of the puppet government of David Lawrence East Germany has just been revealed. Walter Ulbricht, head of the East German Communist regime, announces that East Germany will sign the treaty after it has been formally signed by the United States, Great Britain and the Soviet Union. A United Press International dispatch from Berlin says:

"The East German signature of the treaty could embarrass West Germany and the Western allies because they do not recognize East Germany. They would be in the position of being signatory to a pact along with a nation they do not wish to deal with. East Germany would be sure to consider this a measure of de facto recognition."

The significance goes beyond a mere technicality. It advertises dramatically to the world the acceptance of East Germany as a partner in international agreements with the West.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., minority leader in the senate, anticipated this very step when on Tuesday of this week he issued a statement which said:

"Any nation can become a party to the treaty automatically simply by notifying the United States, the United Kingdom and the Soviet Union that it accedes to or has ratified the treaty. . . .

"Since the Soviet Union in 1949 imposed on East Germany its puppet government known as the 'German Democratic Republic,' the United States and the United Kingdom have refused, despite repeated Soviet urging, to acknowledge East Germany as a state because its boundary claims violate the Potsdam Agreement."

"UNDER THE TREATY draft for a partial test ban, East Germany, by the simple and, at present, meaningless act of depositing with the United States and the United Kingdom instruments of accession to the treaty would compel them under Section 5 to notify all other signatories that this 'state,' which neither the United States nor the United Kingdom recognizes as a 'state,' had become a party to the treaty. There would be no recourse under the treaty's language.

"Communist Cuba, by complying with procedures under Article III, could, of course, qualify automatically as a party to the treaty."

"The treaty would prohibit Cuba from nuclear testing underwater, in the atmosphere and in outer space, but would permit — with the United States a party to the permission — underground testing in the caves of Cuba. The United States, which only nine months ago was on the brink of war because of the presence of Soviet nuclear warheads in Cuba, would not find itself in the role of a co-partner extending sanction by treaty to the underground development of nuclear warheads by Cuba."

Did the Soviets put over a fast one on the Western envoys who negotiated the treaty banning certain nuclear tests? Was Premier Khrushchev mostly interested in getting a signature quickly to a treaty whose provisions might be meaningless in themselves, but which enabled him to attain a position of parity in the diplomatic world, not only for the Communist-bloc countries in Eastern Europe but for East Germany itself?

IT NOW BECOMES apparent what the tactics of the Soviets really were. It's inexplicable why the Western representatives were so ready to accept as signatories all countries irrespective of whether they had any real relationship to nuclear testing.

It's being argued in behalf of the administration that any one of the depository governments named in the nuclear-ban pact — Great Britain, the Soviet Union and the United States — can refuse to accept the instrument of ratification of any "state," and thus bar its accession to the treaty.

The words of the agreement itself, however, do not indicate any such veto exists. The treaty says that it's "open to all states their instruments of ratification 'shall enter into force' on the day for signature" and provides that very day that they are deposited with the depository governments.

The net result of all this is to put the United States in the position of recognizing the violation of the Potsdam agreement and accepting East Germany as a state.

It could raise soon the question of how any military rights can be maintained under the Allied agreement of 1945. It paves the way for the annexation of West Berlin by the Communists as an integral part of the new "state"—East Germany.

THE NUCLEAR treaty itself can be dissolved at any time on three months' notice when cheating is suspected or for any other reason. But acceptance of Soviet aggression and the continued military occupation of East Germany by honoring an East German signature on the new treaty hardly represents a "victory for mankind," as President Kennedy jubilantly characterized the same treaty just a few days ago.

Moral issues seem to have been brushed aside. The Soviet Union maintains its armies in many countries in Eastern Europe and its subversive organizations that cause disturbances and infiltrate governments on every continent.

How can any state be accepted as an honorable partner in the signing of a treaty when the people themselves are still enslaved?

America's 2 Dilemmas

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

President Kennedy's very vagueness about two of his constant headaches, France and Red China, one an ally and one an enemy, show the depths of an American dilemma which may last for years.

1. The Chinese Dilemma—What to expect when the Red Chinese have nuclear bombs, although they may make plenty of trouble before they do, and what to expect when the present generation of old-time leaders is gone.

2. The French Dilemma—How to get along now with President De Gaulle, in order to keep the Western Alliance together, and then what to expect when this old-timer is also gone.

Last Monday, a few days after the United States, Britain and Russia agreed to a limited nuclear test ban, De Gaulle said he would not join so long as they continue to produce nuclear arms. They didn't agree to no.

He also said he wanted no part of something else. This was Premier Khrushchev's suggestion of a nonaggression treaty between the Western partners and their opposite number, Russia and its European satellites.

Ever since Monday—and it is understood the orders came from the White House—the State Department has clammed up on the subject of De Gaulle, saying practically nothing about his obstructionism.

Reporters were told President Kennedy would do the talking at his news conference Thursday. He talked but in a very real sense said nothing, giving no indication this country has yet figured out how to get De Gaulle to play ball.

What he seemed to express was bafflement.

Was this country considering giving some of its nuclear secrets to De Gaulle, secrets which might make it unnecessary for him to test in order to persuade him not to? Kennedy glossed over this.

He said what was already long known: That De Gaulle had turned down this country's offer of Polaris missiles, an offer the British accepted. He said this country had made some suggestions to De Gaulle about cooperation but got no reply.

But even if the icy De Gaulle melted a bit, cooperated, and stopped being a problem, this country couldn't even guess at what might come when De Gaulle, now 72, is out of the picture.

The French government has been the most chaotic and unstable in Western Europe since the war. De Gaulle had come out of retirement and take over the presidency to put it on its feet. That may be strictly temporary.

When he finally departs any one of a number of things may happen. More chaos, civil war, a dictatorship of the right or left.

The Red Chinese, breaking with Russia and determined to make their own nuclear weapons, not only refuse to join the test ban agreement but call the whole thing a fraud.

Blueprinting The Shape Of Danger

Everybody is urged to be realistic about the showdown over Negro rights.

One thing to be realistic about is the dilemma of policemen trapped in the middle of the conflicting pressures.

Their responsibility is to prevent disorder. They are the physical presence symbolizing the community's right to control threats to its security.

When disorder is threatened, it is the policeman's job to avert it if possible and to suppress it if it breaks out.

He is not asked to debate issues, make hairline distinctions, participate in crusades, or set himself up as an opponent. He is charged solely with responsibility for averting and suppressing disorder and violence.

HE MUST ACT against instigators of disorder and violence; that is a policeman's job.

If the job gets too large for the police force in being, it becomes the job of whatever re-inforcements must be called in to help.

Henry Ford Vs. Adversity

In the reviews of Henry Ford's notable life, which began 100 years ago, one important point is too often ignored—to the detriment of the accounts.

The man's triumphs are given due attention. He is given proper credit for showing the way to mass production, ushering in the auto age and being first to realize workers must be paid high wages with which to buy mass-produced products.

It is pointed out with due emphasis that his genius as a designer-engineer and his possession of an alert social conscience did not keep him, especially in his later years, from becoming an egocentric individualist with ideas mostly good but sometimes shockingly out of touch with reality and sound judgment.

THERE WAS another aspect of Henry Ford's character that explained more about his stature as an outstanding man of his era than his successes or his eccentricities. It was his characteristic response to adversity.

Cotton Corners

I didn't take the "yellow peril" seriously the first time around, but I am beginning to see the point now.

But I forgot—the "yellow peril" was before your time. It was a scare in Germany at the turn of the century. The yellow races, it was feared, would increase so fast they would overflow into all countries inhabited by the white race and purge it from the earth.

The hysteria spread to the United States and was a monster headache on our West Coast. What had been overlooked was the way Chinese and Japanese who left their native lands tended to become loyal citizens of the countries they settled in. They were not bound by either their nationalities or the color of their skins. They were individualists, not collectivists.

But this time we are up against something tougher than the original "yellow peril." Chinese Communists are in a position to give us fits in the Western Hemisphere. They're already giving us fits in Asia.

They have shown their hand in Cuba. They are reported busy elsewhere in Latin America.

This is what the issue between the Chinese Communists and the Russian Communists is about, if we can trust their word. The Chinese Communists want to be busy everywhere at once, to promote Marxism. The Russian Communists always have been six of one way half a dozen of the other about this.

It was involved in the fight between Stalin and Trotsky. Some Russians always have itched to get on with it. Others want to make the most of what they already have. The Chinese are taking up the fight for getting on with it, because for the time

This is the way it has been done innumerable times in labor disorders, in periods of natural disaster and most recently in civil rights demonstrations.

It always will be alleged that the police oppose the cause whose supporters, if threatening to engage in disorder and violence, must be suppressed. Whether opposed or not, the job of the police is to resist and suppress those who disturb the peace.

They are the day-to-day realists in the showdown over civil rights. For them there is no privilege of debate, no quibbles, no maybes, no reservations.

THE BLUEPRINT of the danger implicit in civil rights demonstrations has been seen in every city where policemen have had to deal with disorder and violence.

It is the danger that policemen, either in anger at being pushed around, or in self-defense will meet violence with violence and thereby generate more friction in a situation that can be handled intelligently only if friction can be kept at a minimum.

He was fought, tricked, trapped, condemned and misrepresented throughout his career. None of his success fell into his lap. He had to claw every iota of it out of the granite of implacable adversity.

He was opposed by every vested interest he threatened — and his industrial revolution threatened just about every interest that existed at the time.

His supreme triumph was over human opposition, not engineering problems. He had the rarest of all components of greatness—the will to keep going when every excuse to stop has been brought to bear.

ORDINARY MEN knuckle under when this happens. Henry Ford never knuckled under to anyone.

That was the reason for his triumph and, ironically, the reason he almost destroyed what he had created by failing to realize in his declining years that the time had come for others to bear the burden he no longer could carry.

By Truman Twill

being the dominant Russian faction wants to make the most of what it has.

I am not aware that the Russian Communies are easing up on us in regard to subversion, but I am clearly aware that the Chinese Communies are bearing down on us to prove their point about the importance of getting on with it at any cost.

We are asked to believe we have won a reprieve from our Russian pesterers because they're willing to make an agreement not to shoot off nuclear fireworks in the atmosphere. This may lead to a we'll-tie-our-hands-if-you'll-tie-yours promise later.

It might even lead to an agreement on us and trying to overthrow our government—the one that cleared the way for setting up our diplomatic relations with Russia.

But for Chinese Communists this is left-over bird's nest soup. It is up to them to demonstrate they are right about making the world safe for Marxism in their time. They will be bobbing up in Asia in greater numbers, and anyone who thinks the New World is safe can go look at them in Cuba now.

Your Aunt Effie and I are bearing up well in the summer heat. I have been letting her run the power mower because I keep telling her how much fun it is and what a good impression it makes on the neighbors to know how generous I am about sharing my playthings with my playmate.

That woman never ceases to astound me. She believes all this, she says.

Regards to all members of your entourage, wherever they are. I have trouble keeping track of their whereabouts. I don't even know where I am, myself, half the time. COTTON CORNERS UNCLE GEORGE

Districts In Ohio List

Import Rise Over '62

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland customs office reports import business here in the fiscal year ended June 30 brought $10,405,597 more in duties and taxes than during the previous year.

Customs Collector John F. Kovacic said in a report issued Thursday the Cleveland office collected $11,770,097, a 13 per cent increase over fiscal 1962.

The figures include imports arriving by rail, truck, air, lake and mail, as well as through the seaway.

The Ohio Customs District No. 41, with headquarters here, showed an even sharper rise. Collections were $18,334,056 in fiscal 1963, up 19.4 per cent from $15,351,751 the previous year. District 41 includes all of Ohio and Erie, Pa.

Bandit Fails Bank Attempt

CLEVELAND (AP) — A 24-year-old man tried to rob the Society National Bank's Collingwood branch on the East Side Thursday of $20,000 with an unloaded pistol. He wound up sitting at a desk until police arrived.

Police arrested the man, Solomon J. Cole Jr. They said he had been free on $1,000 bond pending trial for allegedly embezzling about $6,000 from a supply company where he worked as a bookkeeper.

Two quick-acting bank officials were credited with stalling the man until police arrived. They are the manager, William J. Eble, 54, and his assistant, John J. Sylvester, 55. About 20 persons in the bank were unaware of the robbery attempt.

Eble said Cole came up to him and asked for a loan application. Then he pulled a gun from his pocket and told Eble: "Give me $20,000 or I'll shoot you."

"I don't have that much money here at my desk," Eble told him. "But I'll get my assistant to get it."

When Sylvester approached the desk, he noticed the gun. Sylvester said he would get the money.

The man turned his head to watch Sylvester walk away. Just then, Eble pushed the alarm button and told Cole:

"Don't be silly, you can't get away with this."

"It doesn't matter whether I live or not," Cole replied. "I need the money."

The man waited at the desk—until police arrived and arrested him.

Hancock Sheriff Lists 9 Mishaps

Hancock County sheriff's deputies investigated nine traffic accidents in July, with 14 vehicles involved and property damage estimated at $3,075.

The office of Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny said six were injured in the crashes, and there were no traffic deaths in the 31-day period.

The July report compares with 11 traffic mishaps, three injuries and damage of $12,450 in June.

Deputies served 129 court papers in July and logged 8,451 miles on cruisers. They made 58 arrests and confined 26 in county jail.

Weirton police confined four prisoners and New Cumberland Chief William Webster four. Three juveniles were cited.

Newsman Aid In Viet

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — President Kennedy wants the American Society of Newspaper Editors to know he's doing his best to deal with conditions complained of by American reporters in South Viet Nam.

Charges that American reporters in the troubled Asian nation are being harassed were forwarded to Kennedy two weeks ago in a letter from the ASNE president, Herbert Brucker, editor of the Hartford Courant.

In a letter received by Brucker Thursday, Kennedy described the situation in South Viet Nam as "peculiarly complex" but said he is doing all he can to change the conditions that are handicapping American newsmen.

Expense Saving Seen In Clearing Records

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Finance Director Richard Krabach says a saving of $100,000 a year will be realized through destruction of state record files six years or more old, authorized Thursday by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Krabach said record storage space can be reduced 30 per cent by Nov. 1 as a result of Rhodes' executive order. Records related to pending cases, claims, audits, etc. will be kept as will any documents which the state archivist determines to be of historical value.

Toledo Girl Drowns

Handyman Lives Secretly Under House Of Widow

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A 47-year-old yardman who has been secretly living under a widow's house for three years still has free lodging today—in jail.

The man, Gilbert Kennedy, refused at first to admit that he had been using the narrow and dirty space under the floor for a home.

He finally told police: "It's cheaper than paying rent."

The widow, Rose Haaskins, 68, said, "I saw him running through the yard all the time bent over. But I never dreamed he stayed under the house."

Acting on a suspicion, Mrs. Haaskins had a neighbor nail up protective siding over the opening through which Kennedy crawled to get to his secret lair.

She called police Thursday when she found him digging at the dirt, trying to get under the siding.

Under the house, police found a makeshift pallet, five suitcases full of clothes and a half-dozen bottles he used for water jugs.

Kennedy, a yardman in the neighborhood for several years, was charged with vagrancy.

Grange Aids 8 Welfare Units

Contributions to eight charitable organizations were made at a meeting of the Hookstown Grange Thursday night at the Grange Hall. William Thompson master, presided.

The Grange, through the home economics and community service committees, has donated $125 to 12 organizations.

Further plans were discussed for the fair Aug. 21-24.

Mrs. Lawrence Seagrath, lecturer, presented a program on safety which included a quiz on safe driving.

It was announced the Juvenile Grange will meet Aug. 14 at 7:30 p. m. at the North Sewickley Grange. The Pomona Grange will meet Sept. 4 at the Big Knob Grange hall, near Rochester, when the fifth degree will be conferred.

The traveling program will be held Monday night at 8:30 at the Big Knob Grange when three women of the court will be honored.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Thomas Glenn and Mrs. Bernard Glenn. Miss Mary Jordan of Aliquippa, Pomona secretary, was a guest.

Next meeting is Sept. 5.

Chief Seeks Owners Of 8 Impounded Bikes

If your bicycle was stolen as far back as three years ago and never recovered, there's a chance it's in a group of eight impounded at police headquarters, Chief Americo J. Radeschi said today.

Chief Radeschi said the department is seeking to locate the owners because the bicycles are taking up valuable space at headquarters. Unlike large city departments, the East Liverpool force does not have a regulation that permits auctioning of unclaimed property after a stipulated time.

Two of the bicycles are blue and two are red, with one each finished in white and green. The chief pointed out two or three of the bicycles are in good condition and could be classed as comparatively valuable. Persons seeking to claim the bicycles should present detailed descriptions or other proof of ownership, he said.

Motorist Forfeits

LISBON — Warren E. Laughlin, 43, of Kensington R.D. 1 forfeited a $10 appearance bond in mayor's court Thursday for a stop sign violation. Policeman John Vokovich said Laughlin ran through the Lincoln Ave.-Washington St. sign at 7:30 p. m. yesterday.

Rights Unit Plans Training Project

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A nationwide "skills bank," designed to channel qualified Negro workers into skilled jobs, will be organized by September, the National Urban League says.

Henry Steeger, league president, said Thursday the bank will be financed by a $100,000 grant from the Rockefeller brothers fund. It will recruit and check credentials of Negroes in the 65 cities in which the league has branches.

Announcement of the bank was made at the closing session of the league's 53rd national conference. Delegates closed the conference by ratifying 10 resolutions on civil rights issues and electing of Steeger, New York magazine publisher and white, was re-elected to his fourth term as president.

Probe Asked By Viet Nam

SAIGON (AP) — South Viet Nam's vice president voiced suspicion today that Americans are involved in the Buddhist anti-government campaign and said he has asked U.S. Ambassador Frederick E. Nolting Jr. to investigate.

Vice President Nguyen Ngoc Tho was asked at a news conference whether the Saigon government had any direct evidence of foreign intervention in Buddhist problems.

"Actually, I shouldn't say," Tho said, "but there have been rumors of such things. I have asked Ambassador Nolting to verify if the rumors are justified."

Nolting said he could not comment on the remark until he had seen an official transcript of the conference.

High Vietnamese government officials have frequently charged that Americans were interfering in domestic affairs, including plots against the government. The United States has repeatedly denied it.

Tho noted that the government has offered to set up a commission of Buddhist leaders and government officials for on-the-spot investigation of complaints.

Buddhist leaders earlier this week rejected any more conferences with the government until their key demands have been met. One of these demands is that the government publicly accept blame for several recent bloody incidents.

violence, if necessary, to remove Negro families.

Another said, "I'm all for civil rights, but I don't want to live next to 'em."

The first Negro family moved into an apartment in the area Monday. A second family moved into another building Tuesday and a third moved into the first apartment building Wednesday.

One of the Negro couples pledged to remain "as long as we have police protection outside." Reginald Williams, 25, his wife, Alice, 23, and their son, Gregory, 7, moved in Monday.

"We moved here from a flat because the rent was about $25 a month less," Williams said. "We didn't expect any trouble."

He said they have no affiliation with any civil rights organizations.

Calcutta Crowd Sees Trick Shots

A shooting demonstration was presented as part of free entertainment Thursday night at the carnival of the Calcutta volunteer fire department, with another large crowd on hand.

Rob McNamee of Guilford Lake, a trick shooter, and Deputy Ronnie Gause of the sheriff's office demonstrated fancy shots with rifles and pistols.

Tonight's entertainment will feature the Beaver Local High School Band, while trick shooting will again be featured Saturday night, firemen announced.

Deputy Howard Gray of the sheriff's office was in charge of a display of 32 guns and illegal weapons taken from criminals. Tommyguns and portable tear gas equipment of Sheriff Russell VanFossan's office were displayed.

Firemen reminded that the deputies took part in the program while off-duty. Deputy Gause expects to leave for the National Rifle Association matches at Camp Perry soon. He has won several medals in the past.

Negroes Boost Protest Move In Mississippi

CLARKSDALE, Miss. (AP) — Negroes in Clarksdale have mounted a continuing protest against segregation in which 81 have been jailed in demonstrations over the past three days.

City Judge Edward Connell convicted integration leader Aaron Henry Thursday of parading without a permit, and sentenced him to 30 days in jail and a $101 fine.

Shortly afterwards 14 Negroes were arrested carrying anti-segregation signs downtown, and charged with parading without a permit.

Henry, state president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said he would appeal.

Kennedy

citizens and advance their right to equality of opportunity," he said.

Kennedy made it clear he does not agree with Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., that Negroes should ignore white help in the leadership of the civil rights movement.

Kennedy said that with 10 per cent of the population (Negroes) being directly affected, it is a national problem.

"Therefore," he said, "it requires the work of both Negroes and whites."

The President also made it known that he is displeased with some recent Negro demonstrations which he described as fringe actions without further pinpointing them. He said such demonstrations were self-defeating.

A reporter suggested that some of the fever seemed to have gone out of demonstration recently.

The President said he thinks this is partly because considerable work is being done in all sections by biracial groups and responsible groups in all sections of the country. He noted that Congress is considering legal remedies.

But Kennedy said that if the demonstrations are tapering off, it is no time to "go to sleep and forget the problem."

"I would hope that if there is a period of quiet, we would use it and not merely regard it as an end of the effort," he said.

Autoist Blames Fumes Backup In Wrecking Car

An East Liverpool area youth who blamed his auto accident on a "golf ball" in the exhaust was fined for reckless operation at a hearing Thursday before County Judge Herbert E. Arfman at East Palestine.

James Clarence Shaw, 19, of R. D. 1 told court that a golf ball had been lodged in the exhaust pipe and the fumes seeped inside and caused him to fall asleep.

Shaw was cited by the State Highway Patrol after an accident July 21. He had been hospitalized with an arm injury.

His car went off the Y. & O. Rd. after he fell asleep. It knocked down a road marker, hit several trees and ended up in a small lake.

The judge told Shaw that a hospital report showed no evidence of carbon monoxide fumes in his blood. He was found guilty and fined $20 and costs, with $10 suspended on condition he attend traffic school.

Frank Gula, 24, of Smiths Ferry R. D. 1 was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to 10 days in County Jail at Lisbon on a charge of trespassing. He was apprehended on the property of Martha Reed near the Beaver Local School.

Auditor Offers Data On Street Light Bills

City Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate said today his office can furnish data to owners of business district property who have been served with notices of special assessment to finance a new fluorescent street lighting system.

Data on foot frontage, lot numbers and locations and total annual assessments is available in the auditor's office, he said. Applegate pointed out his office is open from 9 a. m. until 4:30 p. m. daily except Saturday, when it closes at noon.

If the hours are inconvenient for any property-owners, a mutually agreeable alternate time will be set up to receive the payments, Applegate said. He also pointed out that payments may be made by check through the mail Aug. 14 is the deadline for paying the assessments locally. Then they will be certified to the county for collection on the tax duplicate.

Autopsy Scheduled

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—An autopsy was scheduled for today in the death of James Shellhammer, 33, an electric lineman who may have been a shock victim Thursday. He died while working on wires near Shellhammer, of near by Brookville, lost his wife and two children in a traffic accident three years ago this month.

Between 1950 and 1960, the population of Warren, Mich., jumped from 727 to 89,248 because of new industrial technical center.

2 Suits Filed In California

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two integration disputes have landed in the courts—one a move to block expansion of a predominately Negro high school, the other an attempt to halt picketing at an all-white housing tract.

A suit filed in Superior Court Thursday seeks an injunction to prevent a proposed $1 million expansion program at Jordan High School by the Los Angeles Board of Education.

The action contends the enlargement of Jordan would perpetuate its racial imbalance "now 99 per cent Negro, while South Gate High School, 1½ miles away is 97 per cent white."

The suit was brought in behalf of two Jordan students, Mary Ellen Crawford and Inita Watkins, by the local National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the United Civil Rights Committee. The latter is an association of union, religious and other groups.

Three other suits were filed seeking temporary injunctions against picketing by pro-integration and anti-integration demonstrators at the Southwood Riviera Royale housing tract in suburban Torrance.

The tract has been the scene of mass demonstrations, most of them sponsored by the Congress of Racial Equality which contends that tract owner Don Wilson has refused to sell houses in the tract to Negroes. He denies it.

Other groups, some of them anti-integration, have joined in the picketing.

Timken Offers Union Stock Or Savings Plan

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Choice of shares of company stock or a personal savings account, both to include company contributions, has been offered by Timken Roller Bearing Co. to most United Steelworkers of America members it employs.

The proposal was made during negotiations and outlined publicly Thursday. It would be on five-year experimental basis.

The firm said it would contribute a dollar for each dollar saved by the employee up to three per cent of his total wages and would contribute an additional 50 cents for each dollar saved between three and six per cent of the employee's wages.

U.S. Gets No Reply From France On Offer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy, at his news conference Thursday, indicated the United States has offered France more nuclear cooperation if it agrees to the nuclear test ban treaty.

"But we have received no response from the French government, other than the remarks of Gen. De Gaulle at his press conference," Kennedy said.

On Monday, President Charles de Gaulle snubbed the American, British and Soviet agreement to ban all nuclear tests except underground. He said France would continue with development of its own nuclear striking force.

U.S. sources said, however, that Kennedy doesn't consider this to be De Gaulle's final word.

"As foreigners," Skinner said, "we were entitled to preferential treatment. I don't think we could tolerate the living of the ordinary worker."

Skinner said he married Chi Hsiao-Fei, four years his senior and the organizer at a Seventh-Day Adventist Church in Tsinan, in 1956.

He left his wife in China, suffering from tuberculosis of the brain and paralysis of the legs, unable to walk.

Skinner said she is recovering slowly and added:

The resolution includes a certification from County Auditor Kenneth Bell that a new tax equivalent to 1.55 mills over a 22-year period will be required to amortize the debt.

Salem Township filed two propositions. It asked a vote on a new two-tenths mill levy for three years to finance fire protection and renewal of an existing 1.3-mill levy for repair, reconstruction and maintenance of roads. The road levy also would be in effect three years.

Man, Wife Hired For Kyes Home

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners Thursday approved the employment of Homer Beglin and his wife, Louise, as superintendent and matron of Kyes Memorial Children's Receiving Home at East Palestine.

The Beglins, residents of Beaver Falls, will begin work Monday, succeeding Harry and Twila Fickes of Lisbon R.D., who resigned for other work. Mr. and Mrs. Fickes were hired last January.

Robert Bycroft of East Palestine, county welfare director, said the Beglins have experience in institutional work. The jobs have a combined salary of $350 per month, plus room and board.

Commissioners authorized travel expense for Mrs. Theda Thornton, County TB Clinic nurse, to take a county patient to the Ohio Tuberculosis Hospital at Columbus next Tuesday.

The names of the three famous writing Bronte sisters were Charlotte, Emily, and Anne.

Illia Says Oil Pacts Wrong

CRUZ DEL EJE, Argentina (AP)—President-elect Arturo Illia says foreign oil companies are needed to help develop Argentina's oil but their present contracts must be changed.

"For me it is a simple problem," the country doctor said in an interview at his hill country home Thursday. "The contracts are wrongly made. They go against the interests of the country."

"We have an organization — the State Oilfields, which suffers because of this."

During the election campaign, Illia said he would cancel oil contracts with foreign firms which include Standard Oil of New Jersey, American Oil and Union Oil. He has toned this down since, indicating that foreign capital would not be barred.

Illia said he would welcome a good will visit to Argentina by President Kennedy, but he would not want the visit linked to any economic differences between the United States and Argentina.

Economic problems should be left to economic representatives, Illia declared.

Deposed President Arturo Frondizi, released Thursday after 16 months' confinement, said he does not expect the military which caused his downfall to overthrow Illia.

Frondizi noted that Illia is a member of the People's Radical party which is closely allied to the military.

2 Tributes Mark Anniversary Of Fireman's Death

Two silent tributes today marked the anniversary of the death of Fireman Richard Plumley, the young fire-fighter who gave his life Aug. 2, 1962, in attempting to rescue others overcome by noxious fumes inside a Henry Ave. cesspool.

Fellow members of the fire department placed flowers on the grave of Fireman Plumley in Riverside Cemetery.

Flags at all four stations were lowered to half-staff on order of Chief Charles Bryan.

Fireman Plumley was one of four who lost their lives in the tragedy on a hot August evening a year ago. The operator of a septic tank cleaning firm, a youthful employee and a neighbor who attempted to rescue them also died as a result of the fumes.

The new fire department pump delivered about a week ago also has been dedicated in Fireman Plumley's memory. A stainless steel dedicatory plaque will be attached to the truck.

Trumbull Eyes Levy

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—An eight-tenths of a mill levy, aimed at paying off a $2 million anticipated relief deficit this year, has been placed on the Nov. 5 ballot. The action by Trumbull County Commissioners Thursday followed notification to country municipalities that relief responsibility will be turned back to them Jan. 1 if the levy is not approved.

Others in Rusk's party will include Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations and William C. Foster, head of the Disarmament and Arms Control Agency.

Khrushchev is expected to press Rusk to conclude a nonaggression treaty between the Atlantic Alliance and the Warsaw Pact nations.

At his news conference Thursday, Kennedy said he was primarily interested in such an agreement because it could mean "greater security for Berlin."

This means, officials explained, that the administration expects the Soviets to guarantee the status quo in Berlin, source of many East-West crises since the end of the war, if and when a nonaggression pact can be reached.

Among other points Khrushchev is expected to discuss with Rusk are the premier's proposals to thin out foreign troops in both parts of Germany, the freezing of military budgets and control measures aimed at detecting preparations for a surprise attack.

Convict Leaves Protest Perch In Iowa Prison

FORT MADISON, Iowa (AP)—A convict who expressed his displeasure at his sentence with a five-day camp-out on a 140-foot state penitentiary water tower, was back on the ground today.

William T. Bradley, 45, of Sioux City, faced disciplinary action by prison officials and possible censure of fellow inmates who have expressed disapproval of his antics.

Bradley came down from his lofty perch voluntarily Thursday night, 4 days and 13 hours after prison authorities first spotted him on the tower early Sunday. Authorities said he appeared to be "in good shape."

Bradley, serving a 25-year sentence for assault with intent to commit great bodily injury and as a habitual criminal, contends he got a "raw deal" when he was convicted and sentenced.

He wrote to Gov. Harold Howard asking an investigation of his case. Hughes said an investigation now is under way, but it "may take months."

Teachers Get Pay Boost In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG (AP) — Starting salaries for new Pennsylvania teachers this year were raised from $3,600 to $4,200 today under legislation signed into law Thursday by Gov. Scranton.

Scranton also signed a $35 million increase in school subsidies for the current year at brief ceremonies in the governor's reception room.

The total cost of the salary act is $23 million this year, and $63 million over a two-year period.

The subsidy increase is expected to cost about $85 million over a two-year period.

The salary legislation provides for a $600 jump in starting salaries this year and another $300 increase, to $4,500 next year.

It also carries with it a mandated annual raise of $300.

Scranton commented on the signings in a statement:

"Signing these bills completes one of our major aims — increasing teachers' salaries in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. It marks the first increase in state subsidies to local school districts since 1956."

Scranton acknowledged that some instructors may have been disappointed by the amount of the increase when he said:

"To those persons who have indicated they would have liked more, I can only recommend that they take another look at Pennsylvania's financial problems and I would hope they would then be grateful for this first salary increase by the state in seven years."

The Pennsylvania State Education Association, representing most of the state's 72,000 teachers, had expressed its hope the increases would be higher. Scranton continued in his statement:

"The upshot of these increases is that the average teacher salary in Pennsylvania will go from $3,480 to $6,100," which, he said, places the state 15th in the nation—as compared with the 21st position it had held—in average teachers' salaries.

Sen. Lausche Reports On Co-Op Loan Gains

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio's Democratic Sen. Frank J. Lausche says a New York Stock Exchange member, Amott, Baker & Co., is offering to reinvest surplus funds of rural power cooperatives at double the interest the co-ops pay the government for the money.

He said the firm's advertisement in the May 1963 issue of Rural Electrification magazine showed that it solicits rural electrification co-op managers to borrow money from the government at 2 per cent and reinvest at 4 per cent or more. "It is pretty hard to go wrong with a set-up like that," said Lausche.

Parolee Has A Friend Under This Program

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Dr. Fred Moffatt uses the religious approach to help rehabilitate parolees who were first offenders. As executive director of the Kentucky Parole Board, he writes to the convict's clergyman suggesting he contact the parolee after release.

Dr. Moffatt says, "From the replies I receive, I am sure they are following through, assuring the parolee of at least one friend waiting for him."

Few Policy Changes

Ohio Teachers Get Role Of Deciding Bible Ruling

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The burden of the U.S. Supreme Court decision on prayers and Bible reading in the public schools, apparently is going to fall upon the shoulders of many individual classroom teachers in Ohio.

Here and there, the court decision banning "prescribed" devotional exercises will bring about some changes in policy, emphasis on "voluntary" recitation of the Lord's Prayer or Bible reading, and extra caution against any devotional exercises.

But in the main, most Ohio teachers will have the responsibility of deciding whether to conduct "voluntary" prayers and Bible reading just as they have in the past. There are exceptions.

The Ohio Board of Education has taken no action, and Supt. of Public Instruction E. E. Holt has said that in the absence of any State Board directive, "it's up to each local board in Ohio to determine its significance (court decision) in relation to the local situation."

Some cities have asked their law directors to issue a directive, or interpretive, and many of these are still to come.

In Dayton, however, the Board of Education rescinded a policy requiring reading of the Bible and the Lord's Prayer — but pointing out that this action does not rule out class prayer or Bible reading if the individual teachers desire it.

And Montgomery County Prosecutor Paul Young has told one township school superintendent that a school board cannot endorse any policy, either authorizing or prohibiting school prayers in classrooms.

Here are a few typical situations in Ohio communities:

MIDDLETOWN — School administration policy has been, and in the absence of some high official ruling giving cause for change, will continue to be: No prohibitions placed on voluntary prayers or Bible reading in schools. Practice left up to discretion of teachers and principals.

COLUMBUS — City attorney's ruling awaited on queries from city Board of Education.

CANTON — Bible reading and prayer never have been a required part of classroom opening exercises — but they can be carried out at the discretion of the teacher so long as the teacher does not comment on the Bible passage or in any way attempt to turn it into religious instruction.

EAST LIVERPOOL — Schools never have had a written policy, but customary morning exercises, mainly of a patriotic nature, will continue.

AKRON — School officials feel the court decision will have no effect on present practices in Akron schools, since there are no prayers or Bible readings prescribed by the Board of Education.

tion, the administration or the state legislature. It is the view of Akron officials that the decision does not apply to opening exercises, which may include prayers, where the prayer is suggested by a teacher in the classroom. They figure a teacher or principal could not require that a certain prayer be used, but they see nothing to prohibit its being used on a voluntary basis.

MOUNT VERNON — Teachers authorized to use their discretion.

PORTSMOUTH — Situation is up to individual teachers with school board having no set procedure.

Thus it goes ... In Cleveland, schools are not affected by the court ruling because they have not had such practice of prayers or Bible reading in the school system for some years. In Cincinnati, public schools are prohibited from offering religious instruction, including Bible readings, by a policy adopted by the school board in 1960. Some special exercises may open with prayers, however.

Members of the city attorney's staff in Columbus seem agreed that the supreme court was vague and that clear-cut answers cannot be given to many questions proposed. They feel many of the questions revolve around whether devotional exercises are "mandatory" under "compulsion" or are "voluntary." The official decisions are awaited.

West Virginia Studies School Religion Areas

CHARLESTON (AP) — State School Supt. Rex M. Smith says he is struggling to provide state school districts with help in handling the problem of religious activities in the schools.

"We've had all sorts of queries from ministers, parents and school officials themselves. I don't know how well we can answer some of them," Smith said.

Attorneys consulted on the matter are in general agreement that prayers and scripture reading are definitely prohibited, but they disagree on other areas that border on religious activity.

City GOP Groups Set Joint Event Saturday

A joint meeting will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 by the executive committee of the East Liverpool Area Men's Republican Club, the Young Men's GOP Club and the Woman's GOP Club.

Local candidates in the Nov. 5 general election will be among the guests at the meeting in the old Dollar Savings Bank building at W. 5th and Washington Sts.

Other guests expected are State Rep. Clarence (Dutch) Wetzel of Lisbon, Robert Bell of Steubenville, 18th District committeeman, Charles Pike of Lisbon and Ford McQuilkin, county chairman and vice chairman, respectively, and Miss Gladys DeBolt, county chairwoman.

Evangelist Here 2 Years Ago Dies In Plane Crash

Friends here have received word of the death of a Kentucky evangelist in a collision of two light planes Tuesday at the Riverside Airport at Tulsa, Okla.

The Rev. Edwin Moran, 42, of Lexington, Ky., died instantly when his plane was cut in half by the propeller of the second craft.

Rev. Moran, a personal friend of the Rev. Ronald Reare of the Boyce Methodist Church and the Rev. Keith Tice of Cambridge, a native of East Liverpool, conducted a series of services at Boyce Methodist about two years ago and was well known in the district.

Both planes were approaching the airport at the same time. The other dropped down on top of Rev. Moran's craft a short distance from a runway.

The pilot and a passenger in the other plane escaped injury. The minister had landed at another airport during a storm Monday and was moving his plane to Tulsa at the time of the accident. He had been holding revivals at Catoos.

Rev. Moran used his plane often in his evangelistic work. His family said he was injured badly in an Illinois plane crash about four years ago.

Rev. Moran is survived by a widow and two children, all of Lexington.

Southern Local Club Airs Plans

SALINEVILLE — Plans for the forthcoming football season were discussed at a meeting of the Southern Local Athletic Boosters Club Thursday night at the Salineville High School cafeteria.

The club voted to purchase insurance for the football players and film to take pictures of the games.

A discussion was held on the concession stand being erected at the new field near the new high school on Route 39. It will be operated by the Boosters.

The grass is growing in the field and is being cut twice weekly. Any one interested is asked to report at the field to help in this project.

Lights will be installed within two weeks.

The annual membership drive will open Sept. 1. Bob Hayes, vice president, conducted business.

Twenty-five attended. A special meeting will be held at Salineville High Aug. 29.

Truck Upset Injures Man

A Wellsville man was hospitalized with injuries received when his pickup truck overturned on Route 164 about two and a half miles north of Route 39 Thursday at 7:15 p.m.

James Albert Logan, 23, of 516 Broadway, was in "fairly good" condition today in City Hospital with a large laceration of the left leg, lacerations of the left eye and abdomen and fractured ribs.

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Logan was headed south in the 1958 truck when he apparently lost control at the crest of a hill. He went off the left side and overturned.

Two from Salem were hurt in a mishap on Depot Rd. three miles south of Salem at 4 p.m. yesterday.

Richard Walter Dickey, 20, the driver, suffered lacerations of the arms, and his passenger, David

Officers said Dickey lost control from excessive speed, crossed the highway after his wheels dropped off the berm and went off the left side, shearing off a utility pole. Dickey was cited for reckless operation.

2 Committees Named By Head Of Firemen

Two committees were appointed by Jack Stover, president, at a meeting of the Lawrenceville fire department Thursday night. Named to a ways and means committee were Clem Barmer, Ray Brian and Harold Stagers.

Clark Lively was named to head a fish fry committee. Plans were outlined for a public stag fish fry next Friday night at 8 at the station.

The firemen will participate in the Chester firemen's parade to night. Next meeting is Aug. 15.

Driver Fined, Another Forfeits At Chester

One motorist was fined and another forfeited in Mayor Harry Abrams' court at Chester Thursday night.

William Enoch, 22, of 142 Montanna Ave., Chester, was fined $10 and costs after pleading guilty to driving a car with a loud muffler.

Frank Staschak, 22, of Boardman forfeited a $15.50 appearance bond on improper registration.

The two were among the four drivers cited in Chester Saturday night during a road check. The others received hearings Wednesday night.

City Man Gets 30-Day Term In Theft Case

Thanks to a tip from an alert housewife, a 55-year-old East Liverpool man was nabbed by two patrolmen Thursday night shortly after he stole a bag of groceries valued at $5 from a Chester district woman's auto on the parking lot of the Loblaw, Inc., Market on Bradshaw Ave., police reported.

William Landy of Dresden Ave. was given a 30-day term in County jail when he pleaded guilty to the petty larceny charge this morning before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

Landy had protested to the court that he took the groceries because he was hungry.

"I am going to make you a guest of the county so you will receive regular meals," the judge said, although he indicated he did not believe Landy's excuse of hunger. The defendant admitted he had been drinking.

The judge, reading from a police department record, recalled that Landy was before him in March on a charge of pilfering coins from parking meters.

Patrolman Karl Samples, in an unsworn statement to the court, gave this version of the case:

Mrs. Eleanor White of Chester R. D. 1 had been shopping at the A. & P. Super-market on Walnut St., then drove to Loblaw's, leaving her earlier purchases in the car.

A woman who resides on Bradshaw Ave. near the Loblaw lot saw Landy reach into Mrs. White's auto and remove the sack of groceries. She phoned the police department, then went outside her home to keep the suspect in sight until police arrived.

Officer Samples and Patrolman Blevins arrived a few moments later. The witness pointed out Landy, who had walked through Grove Alley to E. 6th St. The officers took him into custody and retrieved the groceries.

The witness and Landy pointed out the car from which the groceries had been taken. The officers located Mrs. White inside the market and returned her groceries.

2,655 Jail Meals Served For $917

LISBON — It cost $917.79 to serve 2,655 meals at Columbiana County Jail during July, Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan reports in his monthly summary. The average food cost per prisoner was $1.03 per day.

The jail received 51 prisoners last month in addition to the 30 confined as of July 1. Fifty-three prisoners were released in July, two were taken to state institutions and three mental patients were taken to state hospitals. The jail had 181 visitors.

The sheriff said 301 papers were served, and 5,397 radio transmissions and 1,303 telephone calls were handled at the jail. Fees totaling $627 were collected.

Eighteen sets of fox feet and ears were turned in at the sheriff's office in the Courthouse for the $3 bounty.

Skopje Faces No New Quakes, Experts Say

SKOPJE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Experts said today the immediate threat of another death-dealing earthquake for Skopje is past. More than 200 tremors have flickered through Skopje since a giant temblor devastated the city a week ago.

The biggest fear among survivors not yet evacuated is that another quake might strike.

The first quake is believed to have taken about 2,000 lives. Bodies recovered and buried total 1,000.

Kennedy Aims Test Ban, Rights At Press Session

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here, in brief, are President Kennedy's views on major subjects that came up Thursday at his news conference:

NUCLEAR TREATY—The Senate, after careful consideration, will vote to ratify the agreement to ban nuclear tests in the atmosphere, outer space and under water. "It would be a great mistake not to."

UNDERGROUND TESTS — The United States intends to continue testing nuclear weapons underground. (Such tests would not be banned by the treaty.)

CIVIL RIGHTS — Indications that his policies of civil rights are costing him heavily in political prestige and popularity are probably right. However, "this is a national crisis of great proportions. My judgment is that both political parties finally will come to the same conclusion, and that is that every effort should be made to protect the rights of all our citizens, and advance their rights to equality of opportunity."

DEMONSTRATIONS — Because the civil rights demonstrations have subsided does not mean that "those of us who are in a position of responsibility should go to sleep and forget the problem, because that is no solution." Still, it may be a good thing that the demonstrations are subsiding, "particularly in their extreme form."

GERMANY—If the Communist East German government signed the nuclear agreement it would not constitute U.S. recognition of the regime, much as Red China's signing of a multilateral treaty on Laos did not mean the United States recognized the Chinese government.

FAR EAST—Chinese troop concentrations north of India's frontier and broadcasts out of Peking indicate "the potentiality is there for a turn for the worse" in the Far East. The United States hopes there will not be a flare-up which would bring a direct conflict "and we cannot say as of yet there have been any actions which would indicate that in a kinal way that hope would be denied at this time."

CHINA — The growing population of Communist China, the fact that it is surrounded by weaker countries, organization of its government along Stalinist lines and Peking's advocacy of war to advance the Communist cause pose "a menacing situation." The possibility that China might develop into a full-fledged nuclear power in a decade means the United States may face "potentially a more dangerous situation than any we faced since the end of the second war."

NONAGGRESSION PACT — If everyone unilaterally pledges nonaggression as has French President Charles de Gaulle, "then you have a nonaggression pact in a sense." However, the United States is going to follow the procedure of consulting with its allies on the advisability of an East-West agreement "and then go back to the Soviet Union and see what the situation looks like."

SUMMIT—"I don't really see at the present time" that a summit meeting "would serve a useful purpose."

Appeal Due In Southern Local Ruling

The Southern Local Board of Education, at a special meeting Thursday night, voted to request the County Board of Education to take the necessary steps to appeal the Ancel Jones pupil transportation case.

Common Pleas Court at Lisbon recently ruled that Southern Local must pay Jones for hauling his children to the main highway where they catch a school bus. The board contended that the road was a private lane and the buses should not have to travel it.

In connection with the request, the Board also adopted a resolution to submit to the County Board.

In effect it states that the re-tracing of bus routes creates transportation and academic problems. It asks that these problems be dealt with individually, as prescribed by law, and the decision in each case be submitted to the County Board for confirmation.

The board reaffirmed, subject to County Board approval, the existing policy of paying $1 per day when parent transportation is required over public roads.

In other business, the board voted to request the Columbiana County Board of Elections to remove a levy it had filed for the November general election for renewal.

The board was unaware that there would be a primary election in the district in May. When informed there will be, the board decided to withdraw the renewal of the 4.4 mill levy at this time and resubmit it at the May election.

The board also approved the purchase of a grass mower, not to exceed $1,000, for the new football field and school grounds.

County GOP Club Aims Staffing Of Fair Tent

LISBON — The Mid-County Republican Club met Thursday evening at the new GOP county headquarters, 133 E. Lincoln Way.

Atty. Charles Pike of Lisbon, county chairman, was in charge of a discussion regarding staffing of the Republican tent at the County Fair Aug. 22-26. There was an informal discussion on prospective candidates for the presidential election in 1964.

Mrs. Dean Stockman, president, said next meeting will be Sept. 5. Mrs. George Yost and Mrs. W. L. Lewton served lunch.

Youth Loses Part Of Toe Operating Power Mower

A teen-ager hurt on a power mower and a child injured in a fall were admitted to City Hospital where 11 other persons were treated Thursday.

James Kirby, 19, of the Chester-Newell Rd. was in "fairly good" condition today after partial amputation of his big left toe suffered when he caught his foot in a mower. He was admitted just before noon yesterday.

Kelly Richards, 4, daughter of Floyd Richards, 1029 Township Line Rd., was in "fair" condition with an injury to her right arm received when she fell from a tree swing. She was admitted at 5:10 p. m.

James Downen, 11, son of William Downen of Coal Hill Rd., Steubenville, cut his left eyelid when he fell from a vine swing at the Beaver Creek Presbyterian Church Camp.

John Sullivan, 16, of 800 Lincoln Ave. burned his hand on a car that caught fire.

Michael Stewart, 5, son of Floyd Stewart of Chester R. D. 1, cut his head when he fell against a door.

Diana Conkle, daughter of Roy Conkle of Georgetown R. D. 1, cut her thumb on a screen door at home.

Tom Chambers, 12, of 519 E. 5th St. cut his forehead when he bumped it while swimming.

Jeffrey Cope, 2, son of Earl Cope of Negley R. D., suffered a laceration of the scalp when he fell through a coal door at home.

John Bailey, 15, son of Arlen Bailey, 640 Henry Ave., Wells-ville, suffered a fractured left leg when caught in a belt at the Wellsville Feed & Supply.

Michael Gabbert, 8, son of William Gabbert, 928 Montgomery Ave., suffered abrasions and lacerations of the arms and knees when he fell from a bicycle.

Cynthia Smith of St. Clair Ave. cut her scalp when she hit a diving board.

Randy Stewart, 3, son of Otis Stewart of Glenmoor, cut his scalp when he fell from a sliding board.

Ralph Martin, 10, son of Benny Martin, 420 Jefferson St., Newell, suffered abrasions and a possible fracture of the right arm in a fall from a bicycle.

Dropouts

conclusions could be drawn from the statistics.

Thirteen of the students who quit school listed their parents' occupation as millworkers, while nine listed the pottery industry. The parents of six dropouts worked in factories, and three were truck drivers.

Other parental occupations of the dropouts were custodian, rail worker, disabled, self-employed, accountant, coal dealer, mechanic, waitress, contractor, miner, and bricklayer, one each.

THIRTEEN OF the dropouts did not list an occupation for their parents.

President Kennedy said that those students who give up their education may be blighting their future and their children's future. He announced allocation of $250,000 in emergency funds to provide guidance counselors this month to see if 400,000 youths can be persuaded to return to school in September.

He also asked parents to urge their children to enroll for the new semester, and also requested school principals, clergymen, union and business leaders and "everyone in the country" to lend a hand.

Peking

"capitulation to imperialism and a gross sellout of the interests of the socialist (Communist) countries."

Moscow's direct attack on Chou came in a review of the tradition of discipline among Communist parties.

History Prof. B. Leibzon, writing in the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia, noted that Chou at the 1950 Soviet party Congress in Moscow endorsed Kremlin leadership of the world Communist movement but soon afterward launched a campaign against the Soviet party.

This showed Chou was "insincere" and had a long-range objective," Leibzon asserted.

Only Overeating Is Fattening

Use common sense and science and you can lick your weight to a standstill. In fact, you can lose a fast 10 pounds or 20 before the summer is officially over. This is not a mid-summer day dream.

Friends, the new plan of eating to build leanness is exciting. The objective is to avoid a major overload at any one time. Why is it exciting? It's new. Until recently not much has been known about how the rate of calorie ingestion can alter the way food stuffs are metabolized.

WHEN FOOD is apportioned in small, easily handled loads, energy is provided at an even rate. The body is not overwhelmed with excess food at any one time, and thus the laying down of excess fat in the tissues is avoided.

It makes abiding good sense not to overeat at any one time. Obviously we cannot emulate the day-long nibblers, but we can learn from them and alter our pattern of eating so as not to cram the major portion of calories into one huge meal.

On a well-planned reducing diet you can control hunger, reduce 2 to 3 pounds a week and build leanness. It is wise strategy to cut ahead of hunger with purposeful piece-meal eating—a protective snack in mid-morning and again in the late afternoon. Warning: Be selective on the nibbling foods. Most folks who habitually nibble, do so on the wrong foods, the sweets and starches. This defeats reducing.

THE MOST rewarding part of eating smaller meals is that you retrain your appetite. Soon you get accustomed to eating less, then you won't want to overeat. Actually it isn't pleasant to eat until surfeited, for then you feel stuffed, dull, heavy and uncomfortable.

In planning your diet, make protein the backbone of each of your three meals, for the timing on protein is particularly important. The pickups should be limited to the protective foods.

At the finish of a modest meal, get up from the table. Say to yourself, "Anything else I eat now will be laid down as fat."

This healthful new way of eating is spelled out in a new leaflet Eat To Build Leanness, for which you may send. The leaflet includes menus for two weeks. Your dietitian is now off on vacation. I'll be back on Labor Day. In the meantime, happy summer slimming!

Patrol Has Card For Vacationers

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon said today it has cards with space on them for information to let a neighbor or relative know where a person can be contacted if an emergency should arise at home while the family is on vacation.

Sgt. E. W. Mallory urged all persons planning trips to use them. They are furnished free as a service for the motoring public. The cards provide for full information on routes of travel, stops en route and address at destination.

The sergeant pointed out many persons leave on extended trips without providing anyone with information where they may be contacted in an emergency. This presents a problem to enforcement agencies when their assistance is requested.

"The Highway Patrol stands ready to help locate persons away from home when all other means of communication have failed," the sergeant said.

"The cards are to help people help themselves in such situations."

The cards may be picked up at any time at the post or can be obtained from any patrolman.

Egypt Claims Rocket Can Travel 625 Miles
CAIRO (AP) — The multistage rocket the United Arab Republic displayed publicly July 23 has a 625-mile range, the weekly newspaper Akher Saa reports.

With that range, it could strike Israel and Jordan, most of Lebanon and parts of Syria and Saudi Arabia.

2 Youths Claim They Lied About Cleveland Attack

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two Negro youths charged in the gang attack on a white couple in an East Side playground have testified they signed statements admitting they took part in the attacks but that they lied in the statements.

The alleged 16-year-old leader testified in Juvenile Court Thursday he signed the statement because he became frightened when a policeman told him he could be sent to jail even if he did not make a statement.

A 17-year-old also testified he had lied in his statement.

Both statements told how six Negro youths went into Sowinski Playground on June 12 looking for a fight with white persons. They told of finding Thomas A. Giffin, 18, and a 15-year-old girl in the park.

The younger boy told in his statement of striking the first blow and other members of the gang hitting the boy, then of finding a companion assaulting the girl and making him stop.

2 Parked Cars Struck When Bus Brake Slips

Two parked cars were damaged when a bus slipped its brake and drifted backward on the former Bus Terminal property Thursday night, police reported.

The 1947 model bus, owned by Inter-City Transit Co. of R.D. 2, hit a 1960 model station wagon owned by Fred Beatty, 1936 Michigan Ave., scraping the left side, and a 1960 two-door sedan owned by Zedella Lowers of Broadview Circle, damaging the left front quarter panel and scratching the bumper, officers said.

The bus driver, Andrew H. Holtz, 52, of 901 St. George St., told police he parked the bus at an angle about 7:30 and entered the building. The brake slipped backward, hitting the two autos. There was minor damage to a door of the bus, officers said.

In the insurance business, an actuary is in charge of the formulation of mortality tables.

Try Macaroon Cereal Muffins At Breakfast

Oven-toasted rice cereal, crisp and light as tiny bubbles, dainty and attractive as the clean narrow grain it is made from — can turn good breakfast bread into a triumph!

Fold some of the oven-toasted rice cereal into a just-mixed muffin batter, fill the muffin pans, sprinkle more of the cereal on top, and put the muffins in to bake. Watch the batter rise and the cereal grains rise with it. They make a macaroon-like top crust that is tender but rough and strong enough to hold a garnish of jam or preserves.

Macaroon Cereal Muffins
1 package (13 or 14 ounce) orange, date or blueberry muffin mix
1 cup oven-toasted rice cereal

Preserves or marmalade
Prepare orange, date or blueberry muffin mix as directed on package. Fold 3/4 cup oven-toasted rice cereal into muffin batter. Spoon batter into greased muffin pans. Sprinkle tops with remaining cereal.

Bake as directed on package. Spoon preserves or marmalade over hot muffins. Yield: About 12 medium-size muffins.

County Motor Club Explains New Laws Affecting Drivers

This is the first of a series of summaries of new laws affecting motorists resulting from the recent Ohio General Assembly session as prepared by the Columbiana County Motor Club. Other summaries will follow as still more laws take effect.

Regulation of left-turns made other than at intersections and prohibition of drinking 3.2 beer in motor vehicles are among the new laws affecting motorists already in effect as a result of action during the recent Ohio General Assembly session, reports H. Jud English, assistant manager of the Columbiana County Motor Club.

The left-turn law is an extension and clarification of the previous regulation which required that motorists turning left at intersections must yield to oncoming vehicles.

The turning motorist now must yield to traffic approaching from the opposite direction for all left turns, including those into public or private property such as a school, shopping center or private driveway.

The law which has prohibited drinking of intoxicating liquor in a motor vehicle was amended to include any "beer." As a result, consumption in a motor vehicle of beer, including 3.2, which contains alcohol but is not an intoxicant under Ohio law, now also is prohibited.

Another change affecting motorists has removed the requirement that horses and other animals be ridden or led on the left side, off the traveled section of a road. They will now proceed with the flow of traffic.

Added just two years ago, this range, enactment was dropped when it was found that horses tend to shy away from approaching traffic, thus endangering the lives of the horse and rider as well as the motorist.

Amendment of another law has changed the definition of an historical motor vehicle from those manufactured before Dec. 31, 1926, to any motor vehicle which "is over 35 years old."

HORMONES — MALE AND FEMALE

Q. Would you explain the function of hormones for both men and women?

A. Hormones are gland produced chemical substances which regulate various body functions. The so-called sex hormones alter our physical configuration. The child is essentially of neuter gender. At puberty the entire body of the girl is flooded with hormones of femininity which transform her into a woman. A comparable process occurs in the boy who, through the effects of male hormone, is transformed into a young man. The hormone influence persists to about the same degree in both men and women for perhaps 20 years before a marked difference shows up. In women, "sex hormone" production is curtailed more or less abruptly, which brings on the menopause or "change of life." In men there is only a gradual tapering off. This difference in "biological aging" has striking overall effects.

BURSITIS

Q. I have bursitis in my left arm and shoulder. What can I do to get relief?

A. Doctors now have methods of treating this troublesome condition which were not available a few years ago. Self-treatment is ineffective and inadvisable. See your doctor.

There is no need to leave a sick person alone while you make a hurried and worried trip to pick up the medicine. We'll deliver it promptly to your home.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: How dare you call my child a vegetable just because he refused to go to camp?

Did it ever occur to you that some children love their home and hate to leave it? And what's wrong with keeping kids home as long as possible? They grow up and leave too soon as it is.

My Vincent is a bright, sensitive, well-adjusted boy. We sent him to camp three years ago when he was 10. After two days he telephoned and asked me to come get him. Of course I brought him home at once, since I saw no point in forcing camp on a child whose personality rebelled against discipline. Vincent never was one to follow orders like sheep.

I can tell by your writing, Ann Landers, that you have the mentality of a WAC sergeant. You like to boss people, order them around and impose your will on everybody.

I'm raising my Vincent to be an independent thinker and a free soul in a free society. So phooey on you and your military approach to child rearing.—MRS. B.B.

Dear Mrs. B.B.: No free society would be free for long without discipline. I hope your Vincent understands that the freedom to swing his arms ends where the other fellow's nose begins.

The youngster who calls home after two days and blubbers, "Ma, come and get me," is the very one who should stay there. He needs to learn how to live with other children and to take orders.

He should understand, too, that taking orders is essential training for living in a world where nobody can do whatever he pleases, when and if he darned well feels like it.

Smell Of Money

Dear Ann: Please don't give me the devil for being nosy, just tell me what to do now that I have snooped into my husband's wallet and found $350 in cash.

He didn't buy me an anniversary present last week, which I thought was very tacky of him since he bought his mother a set of dishes for her birthday. I got curious about how much money he carried when I saw him shell out $55 in cash for those dishes—so I looked.

Should I tell him what I know and take my chances on his blowing his cork because I snooped? Please guide me.—SUGAR PUSS.

Dear Sugar: Tell him and face the music. It will be worth a few sour notes if you can get the man to bank his money instead of carrying it around in his wallet like a fool.

Money in the bank is protected against theft, loss and fire. It also accumulates interest.

Luncheon Interloper

Dear Ann: This girl whom I'll call Grace has no friends of her own so she tries to take over mine.

Grace and I work in the same office. Every day I have lunch with one or two girls who work in this building. On Monday I plan my week's lunches and they are set.

About four days a week Grace spots me in the restaurant with my friends, comes right over and says, "Mind if I join you?" Without waiting for an answer, she moves right in.

She monopolizes the conversation and gives me indigestion. Is there a solution, short of being brutally frank and saying, "No, you can't join us—this is a private party"?—BICARB BETTY.

Dear Bicarb: Probably not. Insensitive clouds rarely respond to hints. I can't improve on your answer, Betty. Go ahead and use it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruise —

Dear Heloise: Do you know how to keep imitation pearls from discoloring?

MRS. FLOYD M.

I feel that the discoloration which collects on imitation pearls is caused from the make-up on our necks and the body oils from our skin.

There is no way I know to remove this discoloration.

The only solution I have to this problem is to dye them! You can go to any dime, department, or drug store and buy tints and dyes for about a quarter of a dollar.

One does not have to use the entire package to dye a string of pearls.

Pick up any other old jewelry which is discolored and dye it at the same time. Here is how:

Take about a spoonful of dye (I find turquoise and luscious pinks and peaches are the best) and put some in a glass of boiling water. This means boil about 1 1/2 cups of water in a pan on the stove.

POUR THIS into a fruit jar—and I suggest you set the fruit jar in your sink before pouring the hot water in—and put one teaspoon of the dye into the jar. Take a spoon and stir the dye well—until all of the granules are melted.

Then, after the water has cooled slightly, put in your string of imitation pearls and any earrings that might match.

Some types of earrings have glue to hold them in their sockets. You do not want to put these in hot water because the glue will dissolve. If you are only coloring a string of pearls and there is no glue attached then they may be put immediately into the warm water after it has cooled a bit. Rinse thoroughly and let dry.

After all, imitation pearls are not too expensive. And why not have a colored strand? You will be surprised how many dresses this will go with. Try turquoise, peach and pink with a brown or black dress.

This is my answer and I love mine.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: This hint comes from nurses. On the purchase of white or light colored shoes, apply a good coat of paste wax. Do not be afraid, it does not show and dirt is easily removed with a cloth soaked in the wax again.

VIRGINIA READER.

DEAR HELOISE: I bought a set of nice linen table napkins and allot one napkin per birthday for my son. In the center of each napkin I have embroidered his age for each year. I have his playmates (or their mothers for the pre-school ages) sign their name on the napkin with a ball point pen. I then embroider the names of his little friends he has at his party that year.

I also, embroider a few figures on the napkin to show his interest for the year such as rattles for the first year, cap and diploma for the year he is graduated from high school, etc.

By the time he is 20 I will have enough napkins so that I can make either a quilt or table cloth from the combined napkins which will be the story of his life. It will be a memento for him to cherish.

DONNA STAPLES.

LADIES: This woman enclosed a sample. It is the most adorable thing you have ever seen.

On the first year she has a big "One" embroidered in the center of the napkin, and around it is a ball, a pair of baby shoes, a teddy bear, a rattle etc. and all the little children's names that

Scientists Hope To Tame Hurricanes In New Test

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. scientists may find out in the next three months whether man can hope to tame hurricanes.

Experiments two years ago suggested to Navy and Weather Bureau experts that seeding clouds with silver iodide crystals could soften the destructive winds.

From now until Nov. 1 the scientists will attempt to duplicate the 1961 experiments conducted while Hurricane Esther was raging.

"If the results of the experiment duplicate those of 1961," the Navy said, "an important step will have been taken in the battle to ameliorate the destructive fury of hurricanes." The next step, the Navy said, will be to seek ways of magnifying the scale of the experiment and thus the reduction of winds.

The experiment is called Storm-fury and got its start seven years ago after catastrophic hurricanes struck the U.S. East Coast.

Eleven airplanes will be used in this year's operation, seven supplied by the Navy and four by the Weather Bureau.

Silver iodide crystals are similar in structure to ice crystals. When silver iodide is ejected into clouds, moisture gathers on the crystals and freezes. In the process, energy is released in the form of latent heat.

In the 1961 test, visual and radar observations indicated that a relatively small "chimney" near the eye serves as the primary energy source of a hurricane.

These discoveries suggested that a balance of forces in the storm might be altered by seeding in this small area, no larger than 200 square miles, and causing conversion of water to ice crystals.

The pioneer experiments produced dramatic changes in wind velocity, although they lasted only a brief time.

The hurricane control experiments will be concentrated in the Caribbean and tropical waters of the Atlantic.

Wellsville Pack Makes 6 Awards

Awards were made to six at the meeting of Cub Scout Pack 22 of Wellsville Wednesday night at Hammond Park.

Don Hutchison, cubmaster, opened the ceremony with the pledge of allegiance and made presentations to Charles Lewis, David Meadows, Robert Figley, Jeff Kinzel and Patrick Doyle and to Mrs. Marjorie Kinzel, den mother.

Mrs. Natalie Lewis' Den 6 won attendance banner for the 10th consecutive month. Registration cards were distributed to the cubs. Recreation, under the direction of Hutchison and Leroy Geisse, included a potato race won by Charles Lewis and a 60-yard dash won by Jeff Huston. Mr. and Mrs. Ed McCune and daughter, Stephanie, were introduced. Their son, Mark, is a new member.

Refreshments were served 60 parents and cubs. No meeting will be held in August but a paper drive will begin Sept. 1 as a fund-raising project.

87 Stores Agree Upon Integration In Carolina City

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP)—This citadel of Southern tradition took a step toward calming racial unrest Thursday when 87 white merchants agreed to a six-point desegregation plan and Negro leaders promised not to picket their stores.

The agreement was reached after almost eight weeks of racial protests in Charleston, where the first shot of the Civil War was fired 102 years ago.

Leaders of the anti-segregation Charleston Movement said picketing would continue outside stores that have not agreed to the plan.

The 87 merchants agreed to:

1. Grant Negroes equal employment opportunities.
2. Desegregate fitting rooms, rest rooms, lounges and drinking fountains.
3. Allow Negroes to try on hats and other articles of clothing.
4. Serve customers in the order of their arrival.
5. Pay and attire Negro sales personnel the same as other clerks.
6. Extend courtesy titles to Negro customers.

It was the second truce. Merchants once before accepted the same demands, but the truce ended after one day because the merchants wouldn't allow their names to be made public.

Potters To Co-Operate In Labor Safety Drive

The International Brotherhood of Operative Potters will co-operate in a national labor drive to reduce the toll of accidental deaths and injuries over the Labor Day weekend, E.L. Wheatley, president, said today.

It's the fifth annual campaign sponsored by the AFL-CIO Committee on Safety and Occupational Health, in conjunction with the labor conference of the National Safety Council.

Wheatley called upon all local unions to participate in the drive. He pointed out 678 persons lost their lives over the holiday in 1962, including 501 traffic victims, 57 who drowned, 23 killed in boating accidents and 97 who died of miscellaneous causes.

Deaths and Funerals

Death Claims Ex-Potter, 81

Samuel M. McCullough, 81, of Madison Township, near the Yellow Creek United Presbyterian Church, a retired potter and a former steelworker, died Thursday afternoon at 4:20 at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Effie Backus, of Parkway Ave., following an illness of several years. He had made his home with his daughter the past month.

Mr. McCullough was born in Tyler County, W. Va., Feb. 10, 1882, and resided in the Wellsville area about 60 years.

For many years he was foreman in the oil and grease department of the former Wellsville Works of the American Sheet & Tin Plate Co., after which he worked for some years at the U.S. Steel Co. in Martins Ferry. In 1952 he retired from the Sterling China Co. in Wellsville, where he was employed for several years. He was a member of the West Point Church of the Nazarene and of IBOP Local 24.

In addition to his daughter, he is survived by four sons, Loren S. McCullough of Springfield, Va.; Guy E. McCullough of New Kensington; Fred McCullough of Massillon and Samuel T. McCullough of Wellsville R.D.; a sister, Mrs. Martha Mae Black of Wellsville, and 14 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Services will be held Sunday at 2 p.m. at the MacLean Funeral Home by the Rev. H. W. Applegate. Burial will be in the Yellow Creek church cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home in Wellsville Saturday afternoon and evening.

Mrs. George Havens

Services for Mrs. Darletta Havens of Ashtabula, wife of George R. Havens, will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. at the East Liverpool Arner Homes for Funerals.

The Rev. N. W. Shirkey, pastor of the LaCroft Church of the Nazarene, will officiate and burial will be in Columbiana County Memorial Park.

Mrs. Havens died Wednesday afternoon at the Cleveland Clinic after a long illness.

She was born in East Liverpool Nov. 17, 1922, to Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Timmons, who reside in LaCroft. She was a member of the LaCroft church.

In addition to her husband and parents, she leaves a son, Marine Pfc. Richard Havens of Portsmouth, Va.; a daughter, Mrs. Carole Hall of Ashtabula; three sisters, Mrs. Violet Burson and Mrs. Charmaine Wolf, both of East Liverpool, and Mrs. Virginia King of LaCroft; three brothers, Joseph Timmons of Chester, James Timmons of East Liverpool and Emory Timmons of Port Salerno, Fla., and a grandchild.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight and Saturday up to the time of service.

Infant Bissell

Services for the infant son of Harold J. Bissell and Rilla Ann Skidmore Bissell, 245 W. 3rd St., will be held this afternoon at 3 at the Martin Funeral Home.

John N. Mostoller, minister of the First Church of Christ, will officiate.

Sauerkraut And Spareribs Is Tasty Meal

Sauerkraut is such a natural accompaniment to so many of our dishes that we consider it American. Strangely enough, it's not of German origin either. It was first known in China as long ago as the third century.

From there it made the trek East by roving bands of Tartars. It became firmly established in Germany by the 16th century where sauerkraut acquired its name and method of preparation. It took another 300 years before it became internationally well-known.

Although sauerkraut goes so well with any number of pork and beef dishes, try it with spare ribs which have been baked to a golden brown. A combination of fruits in which pineapple slices play the leading role may be served as a salad or dessert with this main dish.

Sauerkraut, Spareribs 2 to 3 lbs. spare ribs

- 1 Tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 medium size onion
- 2 cans (1 lb. each) bavarian sauerkraut
- 1/4 cup water
- Place ribs in large, flat pan. Top with salt, lemon juice, and slices of onion. Bake uncovered, at 450 deg. F. for 30 minutes. Cover ribs with sauerkraut. Add water. Cover, bake at 350 deg. F. for 90 minutes. Serves 3-4.

'Rights' Law Gets Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — Karl F. Rolvaag, Minnesota's Democratic governor, urged Congress today to act against what he termed the genuine and immediate challenge of racial injustice by passing a public accommodations law.

He told the Senate Commerce Committee that a federal law banning discrimination by retail stores, hotels, restaurants and other private establishments catering to the public would complement and strengthen similar state statutes.

Rolvaag also said that "such a law would serve to emphasize and dramatize on a national level the public policy which prohibits discrimination not only in public accommodations but in every aspect of life."

The governor was one of the last witnesses called by the committee as it neared the end of five weeks of hearings on the bill, a key part of President Kennedy's civil rights program.

Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., acting chairman of the committee, congratulated Rolvaag on "an excellent statement" and said, "It's like a breath of fresh air."

Most of the committee's recent witnesses, including five Southern governors, have sharply attacked the legislation as an unconstitutional assault on private property rights and the rights of the states.

Model Vatican City To Be Put On Display

HOLY HILL, Wis. (AP) — An eight-foot-square scale model of Vatican City, weighing 600 pounds, is scheduled to be shown extensively throughout the country in the next 18 months.

One of the first public showings of the model, which is scaled one inch to 28 feet, opened recently at the Shrine of the Holy Hill, site of a Carmelite monastery.

An electric panel individually lights up 18 selected points of interest when each button is pressed. These include the Papal Palace, library, observatory, railroad station, radio station, Sixtine Chapel as well as St. Peter's Basilica.

The exhibit, which took 700 hours to build, is owned by a West Bend, Wis., securities firm.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I, when painting from the top of a stepladder, prevent my paint can from sliding off the top of the ladder?

A. Try attaching a tin pie pan to the top of your stepladder with flathead screws. This will prevent your paint can from sliding off, and also makes a good container for nails on future high-reaching jobs.

Q. How can I clean silver-backed brushes?

A. Don't put these into water! To clean, rub the bristles well in flour until they are clean, then use soft paper to remove all the flour. Polish the backs with silver polish.

Q. How can I remove discolorations from my aluminum kitchen vessels?

A. These will become bright and shining again if two teaspoons of cream of tartar are added to about two quarts of water in the vessel, and it is kept boiling until the discolorations disappear. You can save this solution for future use, too.

Q. How can I replace gems that have fallen out of earrings or other pieces of costume jewelry?

A. Brush clear fingernail polish into the setting, then press in your "jewel," and allow to dry before wearing. If some of the polish pushes up around over the stone, clean up the overflow with a piece of cleansing tissue barely dampened with nail - polish remover.

Q. How can I prevent bias-cut skirts or dresses from developing a wavy hemline while ironing?

A. By ironing them properly with the weave of the cloth.

Q. How can I make candies from rinds of lemons, oranges, and grapefruit?

A. Boil these pieces two or three times until the water is clear, then boil again with sugar added to taste, and until the rinds are soft and sweet. Both children and adults usually relish this kind of candy.

Shippingport GOP To Elect

A nominating committee has been appointed by the South Side Republican Club which met at the Shippingport Community Building.

It includes Leroy Coble and Reuben Kelsey, both of Raccoon Township; Mrs. William Littell and J. W. Temple, both of Hanover Township; Joseph Shaffer, Greene Township; Mrs. Dorothea Brooks, Hookstown; Duane Montgomery, Shippingport; Miss Harriet Mackall, Georgetown; Mrs. Kenneth Salisbury, Independence Township, and Robert Dunn, Potter Township.

Plans were made to sponsor a booth at the Hookstown Fair Aug. 21-24, when a membership drive will be conducted. The booth committee includes James Miller, chairman, J. W. Temple and George Barnes. Beaver County candidates will attend one night of the fair. The date will be announced.

The club will hold a family basket picnic Aug. 10 at the William Littell farm on Route 18, beginning at 2 p.m. Dinner will be served at 6. Kenneth Salisbury is in charge of arrangements. The club will furnish ham and beverages.

The Lincoln Republican Club will hold a picnic Aug. 14 with Sen. Hugh Scott as speaker. Additional information will be announced later.

Next meeting is Sept. 30 at the South Side Elementary School at Hookstown.

Kennedy Avoids Incident During Girls Nation Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy greeted 100 members of Girls' Nation today and avoided any incident by telling them merely that "you are more beautiful than the governors."

Under the sponsorship of the American Legion Auxiliary, the girls are ending up mock political and legislative sessions. Kennedy received them in the White House rose garden after they toured the mansion.

Smiling broadly, the President told them that last week representatives of Boys' Nation were here and he told them that they had shown more initiative than the governors who were holding their annual convention at that time in Miami Beach, Fla.

"I got me into a great deal of difficulty," Kennedy said. "So I'll be very careful today and say you are more beautiful than the governors."

The White House felt constrained to deny last week that Kennedy's remark about initiative related to the fact that the boys adopted a strong civil rights resolution and the governors didn't.

2 Shot Down In Effort To Flee Berlin

GOSLAR, Germany (AP) — While hundreds of horrified tourists watched helplessly from West Germany, East German guards mowed down an elderly man with submachinegun bullets Thursday as he tried to escape to the West with a woman.

The woman was stopped by the first burst of fire and was led away, apparently wounded.

The man, hit in the leg, limped on toward the border but the guards killed him with a second burst.

The tourists, among them Swedes and Danes, were inspecting the barbed wire and barricades. After a stunned silence many cried in rage: "Murderers!" "Bandits!" Some hurled stones in the direction of the border guards.

"Shut your traps!" one East German officer shouted. The tourists responded with a fresh hail of stones.

Not until two hours later did the Communists remove the body of the man from the weeds, only a few yards from freedom.

Third Person Claimed

In Truck-Car Mishap

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — A third person has died as the result of a car-truck crash at the intersection of Ohio 4 and Portland Road, eight miles south of here. The collision Wednesday also left four persons hospitalized.

Three-year-old Rhonda Sears of Bellevue, died in Providence Hospital Thursday. Killed at the scene were Doris Irons, 54, of Akron, and her granddaughter, Julie Irons, 6.

All of the casualties were in the car, which was hit broadside by a truck carrying 30 tons of stone.

Exiles Slate Cuban Action

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — An anti-Castro commando group claimed credit today for three landings in Cuba announced June 20 by the Cuban Revolutionary Council and said there will be more soon.

Carlos Bandin, head of a faction of the Revolutionary Recovery Movement which withdrew from the council after the landings were publicized, announced: "Disembarkation No. 4 will follow and could leave in a matter of hours."

"The fifth commando group already is armed and trained."

"The sixth is training in the environs of Miami and in the Everglades."

The June landings, Bandin said, "are the start of a plan that we hope will culminate in liberation of Cuba."

The program, he added, calls for infiltration of men into Cuba for a campaign of sabotage, internal agitation and attempts on the lives of important figures in the Castro regime.

BLUEPRINT FOR YOUR SON'S LIFE

Good habits formed early in life are the foundation stones of sound character development. Parents cannot hand their son such ready-made habits on a silver platter. But fortunately, there is a better way to accomplish this same objective: Provide the boy with an opportunity which will enable him to develop the habits himself. A wonderful opportunity exists in newspaperboy training.

Through his own newspaperboy business, a lad develops self-confidence, tact, thrift, punctuality, and friendliness. He learns how to get along with people and how to accept responsibility. He knows the tremendous inner satisfaction that can come from serving mankind in a worthwhile endeavor. It is no surprise that parents, teachers, and youth leaders consider newspaperboy training a fine blueprint for a boy's successful future.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Commercial Jungle Gets Thicker

Two months ago, the Federal Communications Commission proposed to step into the field of regulating TV commercials. Very little has happened since then, unless you count an almost steady stream of in-vee poured at the FCC by the National Association of Broadcasters.

The comical Hal Humphrey part of it is that the FCC said it only wanted to put into law what the broadcasters already have in their own voluntary TV code regarding commercials — namely, that during prime time no more than 5 minutes and 10 seconds of commercial time be allowed in each 30-minute period, including station-break time.

NAB PRESIDENT LeRoy Collins called the FCC proposal an "unwarranted intrusion" into broadcasting freedom and added: "We will take our case not only to the FCC, but, if necessary, to the Congress, to the people and even to the courts."

The angry Collins might get somewhere in the courts, or even Congress, but someone had better advise him not to take his case to the people — especially those who spend most of their leisure time in front of TV.

It's interesting to note that the NAB doesn't think so much of its own code regulations on commercials since the FCC expressed a desire to adopt them.

Code director Robert D. Swezey recently stated, "FCC adoption of them (limitations on commercials) cannot cure their inherent inadequacy."

SWEZEY CONTENTS he and the code have been wrong all these years in placing emphasis on limiting the time consumed by commercials. The public, Swezey now believes, is more concerned with the number of commercials than their length.

"I recommend," continues Swezey, "that we start an immediate and intensive study of the various types of commercials... with a view to categorizing them in terms of quality, placement, length and any other relevant facts."

If anyone in the NAB has asked Swezey why he waited all this time to think of such an innovation for his code, I can find no record of it.

The answer is, I will assume, simply that Swezey was never before staring so directly into the gun barrel of government control over TV commercials.

AS FOR THE FCC, its commissioners probably had no real desire to "intrude" into this briar patch, but if the FCC was to deserve its title as a regulatory agency of the federal government, it had to begin to listen to the cries of outraged citizens with commercials coming out of their ears, eyes and nostrils.

Broadcasters have a notable record for letting that ol' sleeping dog lie and lie and lie. But finally the dog of commercialism in TV became so flea-bitten he no longer could lie.

If the NAB actually will get on the ball, revise its code and enforce it properly, then the FCC, I'm sure, happily will pull in its horns.

IN REWRITING the sections on commercials, the NAB also should go into more detail and include the networks' overindulgence when it comes to promotional teasers, preview trailers and the myriad clutter which surrounds and interrupts actual programs.

For example, a so-called 60-minute network show (recently monitored) came to its actual end at precisely 8:24:47 p.m. By the time all of the commercials, previews, acting credits, station-break spots and network identification signs were shown, it was past 8:35 p.m. before the next program really commenced.

During that 10 minutes and 33 seconds, a total of 26 different items passed before the weary eyes of the viewer, none of them (except show title and cast) pertinent to the program itself.

If code director Swezey genuinely is interested in redefining and emphasizing his commercial regulations, he can begin by hacking away at that maze of barnacles which somehow seems to have leached on to TV programming.

More than 50 per cent of all bodily injuries involve the arms and hands.

Weed Removal Order

Eased In Hot Weather

Weeds and grass obstructing sidewalks should be removed, all right, but not during hot, humid weather when the work endangers the property — owners' health.

Health Commissioner Septimus Cook said today in modifying an order issued Tuesday.

Cook explained he observed two women cutting grass out of sidewalks Thursday when the weather was so hot there was danger they might suffer sunstroke or some other ill effect from the exertion.

He said the Health Board's order for removal of grass and weeds still stands, but it is not intended to require property-owners to endanger their health in hot weather.

'Gee,' Look At Him Ride . . .

Back in 1951 a jockey named William Hartack came roaring down the stretch at Waterford Park aboard his first winner. Since that time he has gone forward to put his name beside the top jockeys. Now remember the name of C. Wayne Gee. The 16-year-old apprentice jockey is going great guns at Waterford.

Gee also used Waterford Park as the track where he rode his first winner.

We talked with Pete Bonamy, the publicity director of Waterford Park, the other day and he claims that Gee is the hottest jockey at the Hancock County track in several years.

The young lad started his riding career at Waterford Park on May 25 this year, broke his maiden on the 29th, with his second mount and since then has been displaying a masterful style aboard everything he rides.

Gee now leads the apprentice riders at Waterford with 27 wins to his credit during the first 20 days and is second in the standings only to Floyd Green, a guy who rides three and four winners in a row.

Wayne is the third lad to ride his first winner at Waterford this season. The other two were Austin Gillispie, a local boy from New Cumberland, and Dallas Hedge from Ohio.

Gee is the son of a horse owner-trainer, Carl Jackson Gee, and was born in Oklahoma. At the age of 16 he has become one of the youngest modern-day jockeys to enter the winners' circle and lead his division.

He didn't become a jockey by accident, since he was raised around his father's horse farm and started riding horses at the tender age of 5.

When he became 12 he was made stable boy, walking horses and doing other chores around the stable.

After two years of hard work, his brother Ed, assistant trader to his dad and a former rider, started teaching Wayne the fundamentals of riding race horses.

C. WAYNE GEE
New Riding Sensation.

Being a natural lightweight and having a love of the thoroughbred, he was quick to learn the tricks of the trade.

Proof of his ability has been shown over and over again especially in the fact that he scored early in his career and has been going great ever since. His services have been in constant demand.

Last Saturday the youngster enjoyed his second triple win of the meeting, scoring with Tumble Top, Army Buddy and Delhi Prince.

Morton May Take ELHS Post . . .

BLAINE MORTON, a winning head coach at Salem, has submitted his resignation as a teacher in the Salem schools and it has been rumored in Salem that Morton would accept an assistant coaching job at East Liverpool High School.

The rumor has not been confirmed here but official action on the appointment of an assistant coach will be taken when the East Liverpool Board of Education meets Aug. 19.

It is known that Morton has expressed a desire to join the ELHS staff.

Morton never had a losing season while in charge of the Quakers, but following last season, he and his entire coaching staff were relieved of their duties by the Salem Board of Education.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

IT'S ABOUT seven years old, but it's still a hole-in-one. Jack Shingler, home last week for the reunion of the ELHS class of 1953, was reminded about the ace he once shot.

It happened in New Orleans, and his hole-in-one traveled 180 yards.

Jack is a former Potter wrestler.

BOB MCCOY, the ex-Potter all-star in football, is a captain in the Air Force now and works in Washington, D. C. The former West Pointer has just completed a tour of Japan.

ANOTHER former ELHS athlete, Frank (Butch) Wilson, has taken a teaching and coaching position at Toronto High School.

He taught at Beaver Local last year, but will be freshman basketball coach at Toronto and equipment manager for the football team.

Butch is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivor (Soap) Wilson. Soap was manager of Post 374 Junior Legion Baseball teams for years.

EL Pony Stars Play District Opener Today

The East Liverpool Pony League All-Stars, already Area champions, will play today at 6 p. m. at Marietta in the opening game of the District Pony League Tournament.

Their opponent is not known as yet since a drawing was to be held today at 3 p. m. to make the pairings. Other teams in the tourney are Parkersburg, Marietta and Bellaire-Shadyside.

If East Liverpool wins tonight, the local entry is scheduled to play again Saturday at 2 p. m. while a loss today would send them back to play Saturday at 10 a. m.

The team, managed by Dean Densmore, will stay overnight in the dormitories at Marietta College.

Cards Gain 3-2 Victory Over Cinny

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer
What's with Joey Jay, Cincinnati's two-time 20-game winner who last year couldn't buy himself, and this year can't find himself?

That's the problem plaguing Reds' officials, who were astounded last year when Jay made an unprecedented move to buy his own contract, and are confounded this year by Jay's inability to produce for Cincinnati's National League pennant hopefuls.

The right-hander, 27, absorbed another setback Thursday, logging loss No. 15 to go with only four victories as the fifth-place Reds dropped a 3-2 decision to St. Louis and fell 8½ games behind first-place Los Angeles.

The victory moved the Cardinals into a tie for second place with San Francisco, 4½ games back of the Dodgers.

Only one other NL game was scheduled. The fourth-place Chicago Cubs clobbered Milwaukee 10-2 as Ellis Burton became the fifth player in NL history to hit home runs batting right and left-handed in the same game.

The only American League game scheduled—Boston at Baltimore—was rained out.

Jay became a 20-game winner for the first time in 1961, posting a 21-10 record as the Reds stunned the baseball world by grabbing the NL pennant. Jay turned around and stunned the baseball world by himself in spring training the next season.

Locked in a salary dispute with Reds' General Manager Bill DeWitt, Jay admitted, "I have asked him to sell me my contract. I am willing to pay him my next five years' salary based on what he's offering so that I can become a free agent."

The offer, amounting to about $125,000, was turned down. So was Jay's subsequent bid as he raised the ante to $200,000. He finally settled the salary squabble, went to work and compiled a 21-14 record.

Jay wasn't tagged hard by the Cardinals, but George Altman connected for a fifth-inning home run that snapped a 1-1 tie and St. Louis pushed across the clincher in the eighth after Jay left on a walk, a pinch single by Charlie James and Tim McCarver's sacrifice fly.

Curt Simmons, 10-5, was the winner, but needed ninth-inning relief help from Ron Taylor and Bobby Shantz.

The switch-hitting Burton connected against Braves' left-hand Denny Lemaster, 7-6, in the first inning and right-hander Ron Piche in the seventh. The feat has been accomplished 16 times in the majors — with Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees doing it nine times.

Steve Boros and Jim Schaffer also homered for Chicago while Larry Jackson, 12-9, scattered seven hits in going all the way.

Jimmy Brown Runs, Blocks With Old Form

HIRAM, Ohio (AP)—The news from the Cleveland Browns' training camp that fullback Jim Brown is showing his old running form—and also blocking exceptionally well—is bad news, of course, for the rest of the National Football League.

Coach Blanton Collier has been giving offensive linemen and backs, including Brown, a hard workout in protecting the passer against defenders rushing on a blitz.

For five straight seasons, Brown was the league's top runner. Last season he dropped to fourth in the standings with 996 yards gained. A sprained left hand and some dissatisfaction were cited as factors in his decline.

Finsterwald Behind

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Dow Finsterwald of Athens, Ohio, fired a three-under-par 35-34-69 in Thursday's opening round of the $35,000 St. Paul Open Golf Tournament. That leaves him tied with five others for sixth place, five strokes off the pace set by Jim Ferec of Corona, Calif.

San Pedro in the first race and Miss Byrne Volo in the second combined for a daily double payoff of $493.40, third highest of the meet.

A crowd of 3,582 bet $103,292 at the mutuels.

Collegians Haven't Won Since '58

Packers Given 2-Touchdown Edge In Game With All-Stars Tonight

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP)—The Green Bay Packers, proud National Football League champions the last two years, and the All-Stars, chesty collegiate greats of last season, clash tonight in the 30th annual midsummer football classic at Soldier Field.

The collegians haven't beaten the pros since 1958, when the Detroit Lions were spilled 35-19 in Otto Graham's debut as head All-Star coach.

The Packers whipped Graham's group 42-20 last year with a three-touchdown spurt in the last quarter and Bart Starr's record five scoring passes.

Green Bay rules a 14½-point favorite to repeat, padding the pro's winning edge to 20-8 in the rivalry sponsored by the Chicago Tribune.

'Chief Isaac' Edges 3 Others In Scioto Win

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Chief Isaac was judged the winner in a four-horse photo finish in Thursday night's featured seventh race at Scioto Downs Harness Track.

The winner, owned and driven by Robert Weaner of Lima, covered the mile in 2:08 and returned $5.00, $3.20, and $2.60.

San Pedro in the first race and Miss Byrne Volo in the second combined for a daily double payoff of $493.40, third highest of the meet.

A crowd of 3,582 bet $103,292 at the mutuels.

Charities Inc. Two games have ended in ties.

The kickoff, before an expected crowd of some 65,000, is 9 p. m. EST with radio and television starting 15 minutes earlier via ABC. Temperature around 80 degrees, forecast with thunder-showers likely.

Football fans undoubtedly will see an aerial bombardment by the All-Stars, whose quarterbacks include Terry Baker of Oregon State; Ron VanderKelen, Wisconsin; Sonny Gibbs, Texas Christian, and Glynn Griffing, Mississippi.

Although Graham has been non-committal, VanderKelen, a left-handed passer like Baker, may be used the most. He came up unheralded as a Wisconsin senior last fall to steer the Badgers to the Big Ten title and set Rose Bowl records of 33 pass completions, 401 yards gained in the air and 406 total yards. Wisconsin lost to Southern California, however, 42-37.

VanderKelen's big target was end Pat Richter, who heads the All-Star receivers along with Paul Flatley of Northwestern, Kentucky's Tom Hutchinson, Washington State's Hugh Campbell, Jackson State's Willie Richardson and three of the fastest halfbacks ever on the All-Star squad—Bob Paremore, Florida A&M; Charlie Mitchell, Washington, and Larry Ferguson, Iowa.

Speed, power, hefty defensemen rangy secondary, pass protection strength—all seem to be at Graham's command. But putting them together in a cohesive unit in the short time of three weeks is what makes the head coaching job tough.

The Packers will be without the services of their middle line-backing star, Ray Nitschke, who has a twisted back, and scoring champion Paul Hornung, suspended for at least a year for gambling. All-pro fullback Jim Taylor may see only limited duty with a knee injury.

BASEBALL HEROES

BATTING — Ellis Burton, Cubs, became only the fifth player in National League history to hit home runs batting right and left-handed in the same game as Chicago clobbered Milwaukee 10-2. PITCHING — Larry Jackson, Cubs, posted 12th victory by scattering seven hits in 10-2 triumph over Braves.

Reno Leads National Horseshoe Toss Play

SOUTH GATE, Calif. (AP)—Harold Reno of Sabins, Ohio, set the pace in the first round of match play Thursday night as horseshoe pitchers competed in the National Championship Tourney ment.

Reno had a string of 39 consecutive ringers and a run of 72 out of 76 pitches.

Candy Spots, Kelso Shoot For Big Wins

By JOHN CHANDLER

Associated Press Sports Writer
Kelso and Candy Spots, two of racing's biggest stars, and an unbeaten son of the great Native Dancer will rule as favorites Saturday in three major stakes that will have a strong bearing on title honors in their divisions.

Bohemia Stable's Kelso, going after his fourth consecutive Horse Of The Year title, is the odds-on choice for the $50,000 Whitney Stakes at Saratoga, while Rex Ellsworth's Candy Spots meets some rugged 3-year-old rivals in the $100,000-added Arlington Classic at Chicago.

Raise A Native, who could be Native Dancer's most illustrious offspring, will try for his fifth straight victory in the $100,000 guaranteed Sapling Stakes at Monmouth Park.

Kelso, who manhandled his rivals under 133 pounds in the Suburban Handicap July 4 at Aqueduct, carries 130 pounds in the 1½-mile Whitney. He is expected to meet six rivals, conceding from 13 to 20 pounds.

Candy Spots, who packs 126 in the one-mile Classic at Arlington Park, will be tested with several speed horses. Chief among these is Jaclyn Stable's Ahoy, an invader from the East where he won three stakes this season.

Realtors Get To Finals Of Colt Playoff

The Realtors moved into the finals of the Colt League Playoff by scoring a 7-5 victory over the Dentists to sweep two straight games in the best two out of three series Thursday.

The Realtors now must wait the outcome of the Lawyers-Johnson's series where the Lawyers lead 1-0. The winner of this series will meet the Realtors for the playoff title.

Trailing 3-2, the Realtors stormed back late to post five runs in the seventh inning for the victory. The winners took advantage of four errors by the Dentists.

Dennis Horger was the leading batsman for the Realtors with three hits and two RBIs but Hanson the winning pitcher drove in four runs and smacked a triple.

Landis, Hissom and Cheeks all came up with two hits each for the winning side. Jeff MacLean and Calhoun, the losing hurler, hit safely twice for the Dentists.

Ashtabula Favored In Legion Play

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Ashtabula American Legion Post can't be blamed for a bit of premature speculation on just where to display the state Legion baseball championship trophy.

The youngsters representing the lakefront post have reached the tournament finals and are in commanding position as compared to Steubenville and Lancaster, their last remaining rivals.

Ashtabula beat Lancaster 10-6 Thursday and is the only undefeated team in the double elimination event that started Monday with 14 district champions. Wednesday, Ashtabula whipped Steubenville 10-4—so the north-easterners have dealt both the other survivors their sole defeats in the tourney.

Lancaster and Steubenville were paired in Friday's only game. The winner gets the crack at revenue when it faces Ashtabula at 9 a.m. Saturday. Ashtabula pitchers, with Friday off, should be relatively well-rested and fresh for the climax.

Should Ashtabula lose the Saturday morning game, its conqueror would have to repeat Saturday afternoon to deprive it of the title, the trip to the Legion regional in Lima and possible national glory.

Both Lancaster and Steubenville have displayed both the hitting and pitching strength to win if they're hot.

Thursday afternoon line scores: Ashtabula 300 240 010—10 11 4 Lancaster 012 001 002—6 8 4 Wells, McCarthy 9, Osborne 9 and Degennaro, Schweitzer 9 and White 4, Woolever 5 and Baughman.

'Equal Play' Due In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The city of New Orleans, under federal court order, must desegregate all its public recreational and cultural facilities, including 119 city-supervised playgrounds.

A special three-judge panel handed down the decision Thursday in a suit by 116 Negroes demanding that the New Orleans Recreation Department playgrounds and recreation centers admit both races.

There were 100 playgrounds for white, 19 for Negroes.

The judges said private groups may continue to use the public facilities if such use is not a veiled attempt by the state of city to maintain segregation.

U.S. Shows Improvement In Latest Track Victory

By JIM BECKER

HANNOVER, Germany (AP)—The American track and field squad, off to a disappointing start in Moscow two weeks ago, is honed to a fine edge now after meets with Poland and Germany.

It showed that in the two-day dual battle with a young West German team which ended here Thursday night, winning by 141 to 82, about as lopsided as these international meets can get.

Over the two days, the Americans won 18 of the 21 events, and 10 of 11 on the final day. They scored one-two sweeps in two events, and won both relays.

Four of their performances Thursday were better than the winning marks in the Moscow meet which the Americans won by only 119 to 114, the narrowest margin in the five meetings.

The next anticipated victim is the British team, in London Saturday and Monday. The team flies to London today.

That meet will wind up the tour.

Thursday, Rex Cawley's 50.1 seconds in the 400-meter hurdles, Bob Hayes' 20.6 in the 200 meters, Frank Covelli's javelin throw of 264 feet, 9 1/2 inches and the Americans' 1,600-meter relay team's 3:02.8 all were better than the Moscow marks.

For the second straight day, the Americans got an incredible anchor leg on the relay. Thursday it was Henry Carr's 44.3, the fastest 400-meter relay leg ever run.

The other American victories Thursday were in the high jump, Paul Stubbs, 6 feet, 7 inches; steeple chase, Pat Traynor, 8:44.4; shot put, Dave Davis, 58 feet, 8 1/2 inches; triple jump, Ralph Boston, 32 feet, 2 1/4 inches; 1,500 meters, Morgan Groth, 3:42.2 and 10,000-meter walk, Ronald Zinn, 46:50.8.

Ashe Is First Negro Named To Cup Team

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP)—Arthur Ashe, the first Negro ever selected for the U.S. Davis Cup team, today conceded with a big grin that "there's more pressure on me now" to win the Eastern Grass Court Championships.

"They'll all be shooting for me," Ashe said, referring to the others players, "so I guess I'll have to shoot back."

Ashe, 20, a junior at the University of California at Los Angeles, was named Thursday to the four-man team that will oppose Mexico in the American zone semi-final Davis Cup match Aug. 16-18 at Los Angeles.

Although ranked No. 18 among U.S. men players, Ashe's record this year prompted his selection, according to W. Harcourt Woods, of Short Hills, N.J.

Ashe won the Southern California Intercollegiate title earlier this year and last week he went to the semifinals of the Pennsylvania Grass Court championships before losing to U.S. Davis Cup ace Chuck McKinley, the Wimbledon champ.

Robert Kelleher, the U.S. Davis Cup captain who lives in Los Angeles, will assemble his team next week. The others named, in addition to Ashe and McKinley, were Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., and Martin Riesen, Hinsdale, Ill.

That meet will wind up the tour.

Thursday, Rex Cawley's 50.1 seconds in the 400-meter hurdles, Bob Hayes' 20.6 in the 200 meters, Frank Covelli's javelin throw of 264 feet, 9 1/2 inches and the Americans' 1,600-meter relay team's 3:02.8 all were better than the Moscow marks.

Wright Fans 17, Hurls One Hitter For 8-0 Victory
Bill Wright continued to mow 'em down and added another one-hitter to his large collection of outstanding games in the South Side Hot Stove League Senior Division.

Wright fanned 17 batters Thursday and allowed only one single by Joe Luther as Lawrenceville blanked Hookstown, 8-0.

Bill Owens and Mike Shorades led the winners with two hits each. B. McLaughlin was the losing pitcher.

In another game, Newell edged Frankfort, 3-2 as Ring and Stine combined to fan 15 batters and allow Frankfort only three hits. Crago, the losing hurler, had nine strikeouts and only gave up four hits. Brown's triple for Frankfort was the only extra base hit of the game.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Insecure Boy Needs Understanding

From Minnesota a well-educated mother writes of her nervous and excitable son, eight, who has four sisters, nine, seven, five and two: "The boy is very tall for his age and does a work at school. He is afraid at night; will not sleep alone. Remains awake late into the night. Can't sit still. Dr. Garry Meyers will not look at persons he is talking to. Stutters. Cries easily. Very unsure of self. Pretends he is hurt frequently. Occasionally wets clothes; his bed, rarely. "Very imaginative. Spends much time playing make-believe by himself in the basement. Draws a good deal — cowboys, Indians and military. Often has nightmares after watching TV. Often frightened of cartoons. Cries over sad situations.

HAS DIFFICULTY at playing with boys. Cries when they won't play with him. Seems more at ease when playing with girls. Afraid of being hurt. Both sets of grandparents living, one set four blocks away, one on farm some distance away."

Nothing is reported about the boy's relationship with his four sisters or problems of discipline. My reply in part:

You seem to have been in close touch with his physician, who might profitably refer you to a psychiatrist or child guidance clinic.

Perhaps this lad feels overshadowed at home by all his sisters. Maybe you have expected him to spend too much of his spare time with them.

Dad might do most for this boy, making and doing things with him, going places with him alone or with some other boys of his age and attracting these other boys to your home, where you parents could study your son and discover ways to help him prove a better playmate. Also, Dad might interest him in skills other boys will admire. He needs to enjoy more outdoor fun.

SIT DOWN in private, you and Dad, and consider ways to induce more calm and serene ways in this lad, with quiet voices and more relaxed ways yourselves, and more cheer, smiles and laughter in the home.

Keep the radio and TV silent most of the time he is awake. Forbid all programs of violence and undue excitement. Read to and with this lad a great deal, you and Dad, and when he talks, listen quietly, patiently and wholeheartedly. Don't watch his mouth as he stutters or ask him to repeat or go slower. Act as though you don't notice that he stutters; prevail on others of the family and your relatives and friends to do likewise to make him feel more comfortable when he speaks and more worthwhile.

Show appreciation and enthusiasm for his school success and for his drawings. Encourage him to write down some imaginary yarns or let you write them as he creates them from his head.

CONSPIRE in every possible way to help this boy feel more loved and secure, more worthwhile.

Quiet, lovely music from records might have a calming effect on him and the other children, especially if they could hear it from the hall or another room after going to bed.

Too Fast, Says Court For Plane's 15 MPH

TRIER, Germany (AP) — A Trier court has ruled that a speed of 15 miles an hour is too fast for a plane on the ground.

A two-seater sports plane, was taxiing from the runway to a hangar at that speed when it hit a woman and injured her badly.

Fining the pilot $25 for negligence, the court told him he should have been traveling at "walking pace."

Fair Dance Canceled

LISBON — The Junior Fair Board has canceled a public round and square dance which it was to have held tonight in the Floral Hall at the Fairgrounds, according to Don Myers, county extension agent. It was one of a series of dances designed to raise funds to provide new benches and trash barrels for the grounds.

House Approves $5.2 Billion For U.S. Space Exploration

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

SPACE SPENDING: With only a ripple of protest, the House has approved spending $5.2 billion on space exploration this year. The roll call vote was 334-57.

This was a cut of $5 million from the $5.7 billion the National Aeronautics and Space Administration originally requested.

HOUSING BIAS: A government spokesman says President Kennedy's order barring racial discrimination in federally aided housing has not hurt homebuilding.

Some builders had predicted it would.

But housing and Census Bureau officials reported Thursday residential construction is running 6 per cent above last year and the number of houses and apartments started in June was 10 per cent above June of 1962.

EMPLOYMENT UP: Employment set another record in July with 70.9 million holding jobs. It was an increase of 600,000 from June's record.

On the other side of the coin, the figures released Thursday showed the number of persons without jobs to be 4.3 million, down 500,000 from June, but generally only a seasonal decline. The adjusted jobless rate remained at 5.6 per cent of the work force.

TFX INVESTIGATION: Secretary of Navy Fred Korth has accused some Republican Congress members of playing politics in the TFX contract controversy by mounting a "one-day brand of attack" against him.

He said, "At the least, I think they are performing a disservice."

Korth termed "absurd and without foundation" GOP allegations of conflict of interest in his participation in the decision to

Picketing Slated At Cleveland Job

CLEVELAND (AP)—The United Freedom Movement plans to use 150 to 200 pickets at the giant downtown mail project Monday and attempt to halt trucks from entering.

This was voted on Thursday night and approved, according to Clarence H. Holmes, UFM president. If pickets are arrested, said Holmes, "there'll be somebody there to replace them."

The dispute involves two Negro plumbers, William R. Baker and Theodius Hilliard Jr. Holmes said the whole picketing demonstration would be called off if Smith & Obey Co., the mail plumbing contractor, agreed to rehire the two non-union Negroes.

The executive board of Local 55 of the Plumbers Union decided last night to refuse to admit Baker and Hilliard into the union as journeymen. The board urged them to take examinations as plumbers' apprentices.

Town Has No Hoopla To Launch Post Office

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo. (AP)—Cripple Creek, an old gold mining town high in the Rockies, has its first new public building since the Telle County courthouse was built in 1896.

The new structure is a U.S. post office.

But the big occasion wasn't marked by much fanfare. Said Leslie Wilkinson, Cripple Creek postmaster:

"We just opened up."

Both English and Spanish are accepted as official languages of New Mexico.

E. L. Review: July 26, 1963, Aug. 2, 9, 16, 23, 1963.

NOTICE FOR BIDS
Sealed bids will be received by the Director of Public Service-Safety of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, at the office of said Director, until 12 o'clock noon, E.D.S.T., August 12, 1963, for furnishing the necessary labor and materials for the improvement and repair of the Garbage and Trash Removal Department by installation of partitions and concrete flooring and sanitary facilities according to plans and specifications on file in said Director's office.

Each successful bidder must comply with and pay the prevailing rate of wages as ascertained by the Department of Industrial Relations of the State of Ohio. The labor and material shall be separately stated with the price thereof.

Envelopes containing bids should be marked on outside "Garage Improvement Bid". Each bid must contain the full names of every person or company interested in the same and be accompanied by a bond in the amount of $500.00 to the satisfaction of the Director, or by a certified check on some solvent bank in the amount of $500.00, to be payable to the Treasurer of the City of East Liverpool, as a guaranty that if the bid is accepted, a contract will be entered into and performance properly secured.

Should any bid be rejected, such check will be returned upon the proper execution and securing of the contract.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

(S) ROBERT OWEN, DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC SERVICE-SAFETY
E. L. Review: July 26, 1963, Aug. 2, 1963.

IN MEMORIAM
PLUMLEY — Richard J. In loving memory of our dear husband and father, who passed away one year ago today, the 27th day of August, 1962. He is shining upon a lonely grave. Where sleeps our husband and father, we often sit and think of you. And speak of how you died. To think you could not say goodbye. Before you closed your eyes. For all of us you did your best. May God grant you eternal rest. With your wife Sandra and children, Dickie, Christy, and Randy.

IN loving memory of Lawrence Dale (Jimmie) Miller who passed away one year ago today. A bit of heaven was in his eyes. Because God put it there. The silver lining of the clouds. He placed amidst his hair. A thoughtfulness and kindness. He did to him impart. A way to understand things in this life. He gave him courage. And with Godliness so fine. He placed in his hand. In Mother's, and his hand into mine. His loved ones, Mr. & Mrs. Gordon Miller & Family.

OFF THE RECORD

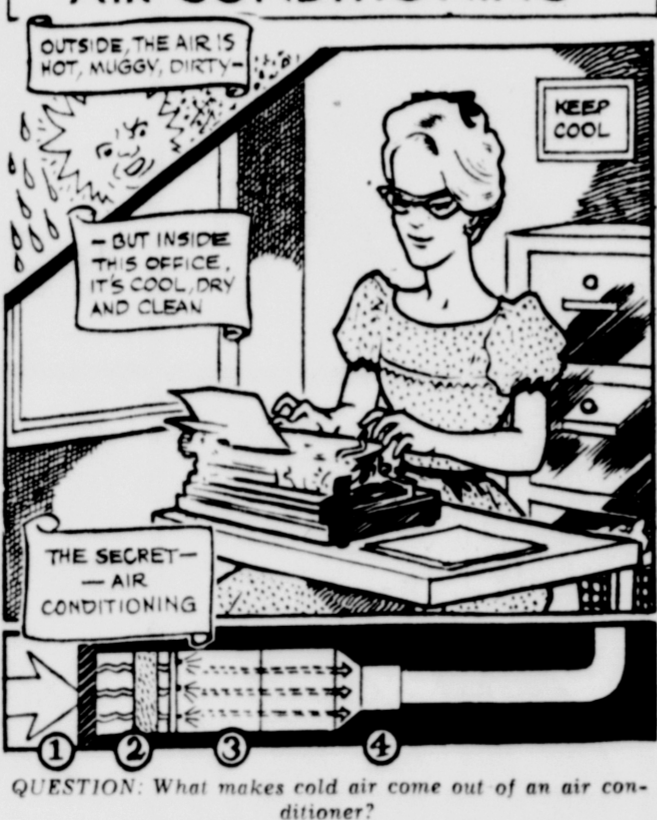

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Friday, Aug. 2, the 214th day of 1963. There are 151 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1776, the Declaration of Independence was ordered engrossed on parchment. It was signed in Philadelphia by 50 of the 56 men who voted for its adoption. The other six signed later.
On this date
In 1610, Dutch navigator Henry Hudson first sailed into Hudson Bay.
In 1817, the first steamboat on the Mississippi River arrived at St. Louis.
In 1914, Germany began its occupation of Luxembourg during World War I and also demanded free passage of its troops through Belgium.
In 1939, President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed the Hatch Act which limited expenditures in national political campaigns and restricted political activity by federal employees.

In 1956, the last surviving Civil War soldier of the Union Army, Albert Woolson, died at the age of 109.
Ten years ago... Despite Communist propaganda and threatened reprisals, East Germans continued to throng West Berlin food depots for free relief packages.
Five years ago... The Federal Trade Commission cited six U.S. drug companies on charges of fixing prices of antibiotic drugs.
One year ago... Former New York State Supreme Court Justice Vincent Keogh was sentenced to two years in prison following his conviction on charges of trying to fix a court case.
The first crude ice skates in history are usually credited to the Vikings of the 8th century, and these were fashioned from the ribs of cattle and reindeer. About four centuries later, a wooden skate was developed, then in about 1572 came the iron skate, and finally in about 1850 the steel skate.

Junior Editors Quiz on AIR CONDITIONING

ANSWER: Air conditioning means more than just blowing in cool air. The outside air may be uncomfortably hot, but it may also be humid, that is, carry a high degree of moisture; it may also carry dirt and soot. The modern air conditioner corrects all these conditions at the same time, providing a circulation of air that is cool, dry, clean and comfortable.
There are several ways modern air conditioners can do this. We show how the outside air comes in at (1), passing through a filter (2). This is made of fiber glass, metal or wool fibers, which have been coated with a sticky substance. The dirt, soot and dust in the air stick to the fibers. Now the air passes through sprays of water which reduce its temperature (3), and a fan (4) moves the clean, cool air into the room so that it can circulate. Sometimes air is cleaned through the use of fine water sprays or with "electrostatic precipitators" which throw positive electric charges on dirt particles. These are attracted to negatively charged collector plates. Some conditioners cool the air by blowing it over coils filled with cold water or chemicals.

FOR YOU TO DO: Few of us have summer air conditioning in our homes, but we all have cold water running out of a tap. If you're not enough to be uncomfortable, roll up your sleeves and let the cold water run over your wrists.

Kitty Stephens of Rantoul, Ill., wins the daily grand prize of a 20 volume set of World Book Encyclopedias for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review and you too may win a set.

Prejudice Means Profit

Discrimination Against Negro Exploited

Individuals at the fringes profit in many ways from racial discrimination and segregation. Here is a report on prejudice profiteering. Fifth in a special Associated Press series on the racial crisis.

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Newsfeatures Writer

One day in June, 1962, a real estate broker dropped in at a home in a town far out on Long Island.

Were the owners interested in selling their home? They were not.

They should be, the broker advised. Soon it would have no value. The reason: Negroes were living in the neighborhood.

The owners, who are white, still were not interested. The broker left his business card in case they changed their minds. He went next door to pay a similar call.

The broker's enterprise was nipped in mid-spiel when New York state lifted his license for "blockbusting," which is considered "against the public interest."

Blockbusting — inducing the panic sale of property at a loss when Negroes move into a white neighborhood — is only one of many ways in which individuals can profit from racial segregation and discrimination.

There are other ways in which the Negro is exploited—not necessarily because he is black but because being black has placed him in a vulnerable social, cultural, economic position.

Exploitation in housing has been the subject of numerous inquiries in metropolitan areas in the North. Substandard housing reaps enormous profits for landlords through a variety of techniques: reducing large units into many small ones, charging high rents on the basis of persons occupying the quarters, drastically reducing services and upkeep.

Even in such things as the purchase of food, Negroes contend they have paid a double premium: higher prices and lower quality. A large chain was accused recently of having different price structures in New York in stores dealing with predominantly white customers and those with Negro and Puerto Rican customers. The Negro customers allegedly paid more for the same goods. The company attributed the situation to store management error.

One of the major complaints of Negroes in the North is that they have been shortchanged in job opportunities. While no man may profit directly from such a system, in a sense the white worker profits in reduced competition for his job. It is in the struggle for jobs that the North has witnessed some of its worst violence.

In New York, Philadelphia and other cities, the Negro has been demonstrating in demand of jobs. CORE has been particularly active, and heads have been cracked as pickets blocked movement of supply vehicles or sought to keep workers from going on the job. Some construction has been halted by pickets.

It is almost axiomatic in the Negro community that Negroes pay more for less. Reginald A. Johnson, associate director for housing of the National Urban League, calls it "the race tax."

Since the business of profiteering in race is a shadowy operation there are no good estimates of its profits. But a self-proclaimed blockbuster, writing under an assumed name in the Saturday Evening Post, said in effect:

"If you can't make $100,000 a year, you're loafing."

Blockbusting usually works like this: Elm Street is all-white. The houses are not new; perhaps they are a bit over the hill. A few blocks away, there is an all-Negro neighborhood.

One day, a white family moves away. A real estate speculator sells the house to a Negro family. The Negroes move in.

The speculator contacts Brown, another white Elm Street homeowner. He reminds Brown of his Negro neighbors, adding with a knowing look "And you know what they do to property values."

The speculator offers to buy the house. Brown agrees to sell. He sets the price at $12,500. The speculator laughs. With Negroes in the neighborhood and more certain to move in, he says, he couldn't get more than $10,000 for it. Brown sells at $10,000.

The house is offered to Smith, a Negro, for $15,000. It's inflated and Smith knows it but the house and the neighborhood are better than those usually available to Negroes. Smith buys.

The speculator takes his $5,000 gross profit and moves on to the next house, the next block, the next town.

Blockbusting is the most spectacular way in which unscrupulous people reap a financial windfall from the fact that one race is often uncomfortable in the presence of another. But all methods have a common denominator: The Negro is a captive market.

"The white person can escape," says Whitney M. Young Jr., executive director of the Urban League. "The Negro can't."

Unspectacular but steady profits are made, Negro leaders say, in the so-called Negro ghettos of the North — Harlem in New York, the South Side in Chicago, Fillmore Street in San Francisco. Ghetto landlords, most of them white but some Negro, are able to make money without spending much.

"They don't have to worry about improving the property," says Dr. Warren Banner of the Urban League. "The Negro isn't going to move. Where would he go? The owners just milk the property and forget it."

Some owners keep their properties in repair. A noticeable number don't.

Last spring, inspectors discovered 91 violations of the health code in a Harlem tenement. They included rat infestation, disrepair, accumulated refuse and inadequate heat.

Race profits also are made on the money market. Some channels for obtaining money are closed to the Negroes, particularly in mortgage loans.

"The money we lend is not our own," says a Chicago banker. "We must invest it in sound paper. Negroes just have a tough time meeting our mortgage standards."

"When a person applies for a loan," says Banner, "the bank looks at his job and his collateral. It relates this information to its experience with people in similar situations.

"Negroes are most likely to have marginal jobs with less security. Generally speaking, the neighborhoods into which Negroes are permitted to move are the neighborhoods no one else wants. The house is not worth much as collateral."

The speculator, of course, is always willing to step in to help for a price.

Banner cites as an example the case of a Negro who had a chance to buy a house at its market price of $17,000 and wound up paying $21,000 through a speculator when the bank turned down his loan.

"The load is more than he can handle," says Banner. "The house is old because that is usually the only type they will sell to a Negro. He has no money left for repairs. He has to rent out rooms to make ends meet."

"Segregation," Young says, "invariably means inferior schools which in turn means a ready source of cheap, unskilled labor. The Negro doesn't make much money. He is confined to the ghetto, the slum."

"The small merchant on the corner gives him ghetto credit. The merchant can charge more for his goods. The Negro has to pay. He can't go anywhere else."

Jail Term Suspended On Reduced Charges

LISBON — A Lisbon man pleaded guilty Thursday afternoon to a charge of simple assault at a hearing before County Judge James L. MacDonald.

David Paulino, 23, of N. Market St. was fined $50 and costs and given a 60-day suspended County Jail sentence for assaulting George Batcha of West Point June 30 outside Mark's Landing tavern at Guilford Lake.

The original charge of assault with a dangerous weapon was reduced earlier by the prosecutor's office because the Grand Jury might not have indicted due to circumstances of the case.

The assault arose from a remark by Batcha concerning a girl seated with the defendant. Batcha received a cheek laceration that required eight stitches and Paulino claims he also was cut in the scuffle.

Judge MacDonald told Paulino that if he got into any kind of trouble in the future he would have to serve the jail sentence.

Concert Planned By Dayton CORE

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A "freedom concert" will be held at Dayton's Welcome Stadium next Wednesday night, according to W. Sumpter McIntosh, executive director of the Congress of Racial Equality's Dayton chapter.

The concert will feature Mahalia Jackson, famed Negro spiritual singer.

McIntosh said other well known artists will perform and that CORE is trying to get Negro comedian Dick Gregory for the show. He also said that integrationist leader Rev. Martin Luther King may appear "if he is over a virus attack."

Sponsors hope the concert will raise sizable donations for civil rights action here.

Park Doubles July Crowds

July attendance totaled 41,403 at Beaver Creek State Forest Park, approximately double the crowd recorded in July 1962. Park Manager Elmer Hiles reported today.

Last month's attendance was equivalent to nearly 50 per cent of the 85,000 visitors recorded at the park throughout 1962, Hiles added.

During July, 453 persons used the park's primitive camping area.

Hiles ascribed the rapidly-growing attendance to increasing awareness of the area's attractions on the part of district residents, as well as those from distant parts of Ohio and other states.

The visitors last month took part in one or more of the varied activities offered at the huge tract, including picnicking, hiking, swimming and fishing.

Beaver Creek has been banked up with a bulldozer in two spots to increase the depth for swimming. Hiles said he counted 75 persons swimming in one of the areas last Sunday.

Other attractions in the park area are locks of the old Sandy & Beaver Canal and the ruins of the old Gaston Mill. The County Forests and Parks Council is pushing a project for funds to restore the old mill.

The park is operated by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources.

Arizona Mishap Kills Ex-Sandusky Woman

HOLBROOK, Ariz. (AP)—Mrs. Donald Hacker, 23, of Anaheim, Calif., and believed to have formerly lived in Sandusky, Ohio, was killed in a highway crash on U. S. 66 Thursday. Her husband, and son Danny, 15 months, received minor injuries.

The Arizona Highway Patrol said Hacker lost control of the car, pulling the family's house-trailer, west of Navajo in northeastern Arizona. The trailer overturned, hurling the car onto a highway divider strip.

Rhodes Honors Ohio Commission On Government

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Appreciation was the key word Thursday night at Gov. James A. Rhodes entertained members of his "Little Hoover Commission" at a lawn fete.

Rhodes presented members of the commission with certificates of appreciation. The members in turn expressed their appreciation for the free hand they were given in making their survey of state government operation with an eye toward improved economy and efficiency.

Howard Bishop, chairman of the group of some 70 management experts Rhodes drew from private industry to conduct the study, put it this way: "It is a most startling experience to find the head of a state with open arms for improvement in government."

George Hill of Oxford, former employment director of Arco Steel, said "every file drawer, hospital and prison" was opened by the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction for his inspection.

The Commission's seven-member executive committee is drafting its final report for presentation next month.

The profile of George Washington appears on the Purple Heart Award.

Warning Readied
INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A resolution urging Christians to beware of "extremist political and economic movements" which circulate charges against others being un-American or dupes of Communism has been proposed for action by the International Convention of Christian Churches (Disciples) Oct. 11-16 in Miami.
